Columbia So Big Bennett Scared?

VANCOUVER (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton suggested yesterday that the size and scope of the Columbia River power development project may be so large that it has frightened Premier Bennett of British Columbia. (See story Page 5.)

"I wonder if this whole project isn't a bit too big for Mr. Bennett is becoming afraid of it and trying to run away from it," he said.

McKinley's South Face Conquered by Italians

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A six-man Italian team was reported Tuesday to have conquered 20,320-foot Mt. McKinley up the previously unclimbed sheer south face of North America's loftiest peak.

The feat was immediately hailed by Bradford Washburn, director of the Boston Museum of Science and a recognized authority on Mt. McKinley, as "the greatest achievement in American mountaineering history."

FLOWN DOWN

A member of the expedition, Glen Canali, told of the conquest when he was flown here Monday night for treatment of severe frostbite.

Canali said the party, led by Riccardo Casin of the Alpine Club, fought its way to the summit at 11 a.m. July 19. He said several other members of the team were also suffering from frostbite.

GOING BACK

Canali was brought to Anchorage by bush pilot Don Sheldon of Tukwila, who planned to return immediately to the mountain to evacuate the other climbers.

Although unable to walk, Canali was in high spirits. Sheldon said the others "had slided" Canali down the mountain on a slab of ice at about the 16,000-foot level.

DARING PILOT

The daring pilot, who figured prominently in the dramatic rescue of four injured climbers marooned on McKinley last year, landed his plane on the ice field to bring out the stricken mountaineer.

New Party Triumvirate Calls Separate Rallies

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor, New Party clubs and the CCF will meet separately this weekend to set the stage for next week's founding convention of the New Party.

The three groups represent the basic triumvirate behind formation of the new left-wing party.

TO CONSIDER DETAILS
The 21-member executive council of the Canadian Labor Congress confers Friday and Saturday.

The council, inner cabinet

of the 1,150,000-member central labor organization, will deal with some internal issues facing the labor movement as well as consider details of the CLC role at the New Party convention.

MEETS SUNDAY
The 60-member national council of the CCF, headed by CCF president David Lewis of Toronto, is to meet Sunday night chiefly to wrap up legal details involving the transfer of federal CCF authority and finances to the New Party.

About 300 delegates from

New Party clubs across Canada, are to gather Sunday night at a downtown hotel to set up a formal national organization.

KEY ROLE
Headed by Stanley Knowles, a CLC executive vice-president, the national New Party committee will tidy up last-minute house before the convention gets under way Monday.

All three groups have a key role to play at the convention itself—and their chief spokesmen are to set the convention theme in keynote speeches on the first two days.

OPENING SPEECH
Mr. Knowles, a former CCF member of Parliament, is to give the opening speech Monday. He will be followed by Mr. Lewis, a Toronto labor lawyer.

On Tuesday, Leo McIsaac, chairman of the national council of New Party clubs, is to make the third keynote address.

Tiros Satellites Save Many Lives, Billions

WASHINGTON (UPI)—F. W. Reichelderfer, the nation's top weatherman, told Congress yesterday that storm-spouting Tiros satellites already have saved many lives and a billion dollars yearly in property loss.

"It is reported that more definite forecasts longer in advance would yield double the benefits or greater," he said.

Reichelderfer told the House science and space committee the weather satellites and other forecasting advances had cut the storm toll in coastal areas to one-fifth of the death rate 20 years ago.

He gave this report on Tiros III, sent into orbit July 13 to keep a camera eye out for new-born hurricanes.

"Already it has discovered and fixed the locations of three tropical disturbances, two of them hurricanes, more accurately and pictured their configurations and movements more clearly than could be done by any other available means."

GRAND FORK, B.C. (CP)—John J. Verigin was officially declared spiritual leader of the Orthodox Doukhobors at a meeting here, it was announced Tuesday night.

U.S. PREPARES FOR WORST LEAVES BERLIN DOOR OPEN

Correspondents Watch Kennedy

Television viewers watching President Kennedy last night saw only the president at his White House desk, but he had lots of company. Picked correspondents included Britain's Anthony Goodman of

Kennedy Boosts Army

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Kennedy Tuesday night moved to strengthen the United States' military arsenal while calling on Soviet Premier Khrushchev to settle the Berlin crisis peacefully at the conference table.

The freedom of Berlin is not negotiable, Kennedy told a radio and television audience, "but we are willing to consider any arrangements or treaty in Germany consistent with the maintenance of peace and freedom and with the legitimate security interests of all nations."

PLAN FEASIBLE

Kennedy maintained an arrangement could be worked out to ensure Russia against any possible attack from the West in central Europe and make it possible for both security and freedom to exist in this troubled area.

NO CHANCES TAKEN

Meanwhile, he was taking no chances. He would ask Congress today for authority to spend another $3,347,000,000 for defence — half for additional manpower and the other half for conventional arms.

This would boost the active army by about 125,000 men to a total of 1,000,000. The total manpower increase of all services would be 217,000.

REPEATED DRIVE URGED

The Western Allies also had to boost their strength, Kennedy said. The European situation demanded fulfillment of the NATO target of 30 divisions. It now has about 20.

"We will put even greater resources into fulfilling these goals and look to our Allies to do the same."

Kennedy hammered home time and again a notice that the U.S. would fight if necessary in defence of Berlin and the cause of freedom.

SHIPS HELD BACK

"We do not want to fight — but we have fought before," Kennedy said. "We cannot and will not permit the Communists to drive us out of Berlin, either gradually or by force."

Kennedy said he proposed to send in service many ships and planes once tagged for retirement. And he said he intends to use about half the extra money he seeks to buy non-nuclear weapons, ammunition and equipment.

WILLING TO TALK

Pointing up the willingness to negotiate, Kennedy said that "while we are ready to defend our interests, we shall also be ready to search for peace — in quiet exploratory talks — in formal or informal meetings."

CHALLENGE TO ALL

Kennedy called on the Western Allies to assume their share of the risks and burdens because the challenge is one "to every nation which has asserted its sovereignty in the name of liberty." It especially challenged the Atlantic community — "the heartbeat of human freedom."

What he expects in the way of definite action from Allied powers was not spelled out.

AT ALL COSTS

The president said he hoped an increased flow of money to government coffers because of an improved business outlook would cover the increased spending he proposed. However, he declared his intention to carry out the needed steps to meet the situation at all costs.

He also proposed increasing spending to set up facilities for civil defence.

Drought Operation Hastens Relief To Prairie Farms

By The Canadian Press

A big emergency operation to provide feed and water for livestock was underway Tuesday on the drought-stricken central Prairies while farmers in the extreme west delayed calling for aid under the government-organized plan, hoping recent rains would revive hay crops.

EQUIPMENT MOVED

Carloads of feed were being moved into some drought areas. Cattle were being moved to greener pastures from others.

Giant pumps were replenishing farm dugouts. Trucks and rail cars moved hay and equipment to salvage stunted crops for feed.

ALBERTA FIANNED

Most of Alberta was splashed by a rain system that moved in from the northwest Sunday and spread across the province by early Monday. Agriculture officials said the rain could take some of the urgency out of a feed shortage in southern Alberta.

RAIN HELPED

R. M. Putnam, deputy agriculture minister, said Tuesday no applications had been received from farmers for assistance under the dominion provincial fodder and cattle movement schemes announced in early July by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Mr. Putnam said the rain would help farmers in the province "immeasurably."

FARMERS WAIT

Provincial field crops commissioner A. M. Wilson said the moisture would bring along second growth on grass lands and feed grain fields. Farmers in the drought-stricken south likely would avoid buying fodder from outside until they see how the second growth develops, he said.

ALL IN EFFECT

Saskatchewan farmers have not hesitated to apply for aid under the government program. Agriculture Minister I. C. Nelles said all government measures were in effect and being used by farmers fighting the effects of a prolonged drought.

Fishermen Reap $750,000 in Day

SEATTLE (AP)—American and Canadian fishermen reaped a $750,000 harvest of sockeye salmon in the Strait of Juan de Fuca and northern Puget Sound Monday. The 375,000 fish will bring $1,500,000 as a finished product.

The run indicates full rehabilitation of the Fraser sockeye runs now is approaching fulfillment.

New Dag Bid Could Stymie Reds

By MAX HARRISON

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Dag Hammarskjöld's role in the Tunisian crisis could turn out to be a powerful answer to the Soviet campaign to replace the United Nations secretary-general with a three-man directorate. (See Page 3.)

If his personal diplomacy succeeds in restoring peace, both he and the office of secretary-general will get a big boost in prestige. In any event his activities are bound to have an impact on this fall's General Assembly debate on the proposed structural changes.

Developments during the last week have demonstrated that the secretary-general is a potential peace-making arm of the United Nations which can supplement the work of the Security Council and the Assembly.

Last Saturday when the council appeared headed toward a deadlock on two controversial resolutions, Hammarskjöld entered boldly into the picture with a compromise proposal for an interim ceasefire while debate continued. His proposal won immediate support including that of the Soviet Union.

Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba invited the secretary-general Sunday to fly to Tunis to help restore peace. Hammarskjöld accepted without hesitation.

The president said he hoped an increased flow of money to government coffers because of an improved business outlook would cover the increased spending he proposed. However, he declared his intention to carry out the needed steps to meet the situation at all costs.

He also proposed increasing spending to set up facilities for civil defence.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

OLD-TIME mariner Max Lohbrunner is threatened with eviction from the place where he has his whaler tied up alongside the Victoria city wharf at the foot of Herald Street.

The white-haired ex-seaman, aged 75 and recently out of hospital, kept an anxious lookout yesterday as workmen ripped away part of the old wharf and dumped gravel into the water to make a fill, where city trucks will turn.

At low tide his old ship, the Green, a relic of Pacific Coast whaling days, was lying with her bow high and dry, the bottom resting on boulders that had rolled down from the fill.

Max is afraid that the rocks and gravel will punch a hole in the ship's side, or capsize her.

Max, one of the last of the old-time sealing ship men who sailed from Victoria, has been notified to move the whaler, his old fishing boat Mel and a kind of floating museum of old nautical hardware, that he keeps on two barges between the boats.

The city wants to fill in the bay in front of the Kelly Douglas warehouse.

Yesterday I crossed a narrow plank and picked my way among barrels and boxes to talk to Max aboard the whaler.

"They've ordered me to get out, but this belongs to the Dominion government," he said.

"There might be a lawsuit about this. The city claims they built the wharf, but it's the sealers' wharf, and we'll give the city a bill for using the wharf, 50 years' rent."

Victoria's fleet of sealing schooners used to tie up in the place where Max Lohbrunner's floating relics now lie. The famous clipper ship Thermopylae used to call in there too.

The sealing fleet was laid up after the international sealing treaty of 1911, and has rotted away and vanished while the dwindling band of sealers wait for the federal government compensation which they claim is rightfully theirs.

They claim they were promised compensation in return for quitting sealing. But the money has not been paid.

"The old sealers—a lot of 'em's dead," Max observed. "In Ottawa today they've got more than $1,000,000 in interest alone from the Pribilof Islands. They're building railroads around Nova Scotia and Newfoundland with money that belongs to Victoria."

He brought the old whaler several years ago with the idea of turning her into a sealing-ship when the sealing treaty expired.

Now the Thermopylae Club, a group of ex-sealing ship men and landlubbers interested in the sea, is trying to drum up interest in a plan to preserve the Green.

"I've been a volunteer watchman here for the city," he said. "It was Mayor Harrison who told me to tie up here, when he was at city hall." He has sounded the alarm for several waterfront fires and tipped off police about a robbery at the Kelly Douglas warehouse.

He thinks he deserves to stay where he is, because of his status as an old sealing ship man—therefore part-owner of the wharf—and by acting as an unpaid guardian of city property.

But the gravel fill is moving steadily outward into the bay. Soon, city workmen will arrive to dump more gravel.

Then what will happen to Max Lohbrunner and the old Green, and the floating museum of antique marine hardware?

Max says he isn't going to touch the whaler, when the workmen start dumping gravel again. He plans to sit and watch—and then present the city with a bill for a new sealing-ship wharf—and 50 years' rent.

Time and Relief Needed For Painful Heel Spurs

By JOSEPH G. MOYNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Moyner: Our son, B, has spurs on his heels. What are they?"

"Our doctor prescribed shoes that have a sponge rubber inner heel and the heels are built up an extra inch. The boy is taking no medicine, but is walking better with these shoes. However, when he walks on concrete for a long time, he complains of the pain.—Mrs. L. M."

"Spurs" on the heel are fairly common. They may be painful, they may not. The word itself indicates some jutting out of the heel bone where certain tendons attach.

When there's an injury to the body, even a cut finger or something like that, calcium in the body moves to the injured spot to help heal it. After a wound, you have a scar. After a broken bone, you have a thickened area where the bone "knits." There's calcium there!

STRONG TENDON

So when, for one reason or another, there is irritation of the strong tendon which is attached to the heel bone, calcium gathers there to repair the damage. That is a "spur."

What these painful "spurs" on the heel need is just what a wounded finger needs: Time and relief from irritation while nature adjusts the trouble and restores comfort. It's not easy to rest a sore heel or two.

So the sponge inner heel makes the best possible sense, and a slightly built-up heel may help, too, depending on circumstances.

'Escape' for Executives

'Y' Plans New Club

Cardiac Alley is a road paved with the good intentions of businessmen who don't know when to quit.

"No time to rest today... gotta line up that deal with J.B.," they say—and the next thing they know a doctor is plugging a party line into their chest and listening to a heart doing a cha-cha-cha.

BALANCED DIET
A balanced diet of exercise and rest can slow the old pump down to a quiet two-step. YMCA officials say.

And their new venture—the Businessmen's Club—is aimed at providing that balanced diet to Victoria executives.

COSTS PROVIDED
One of the features of the club will be a "quiet room," where, after a steam bath and massage, members can relax.

The room will be illuminated by soft light and furnished with several cots.

"POPULAR FEATURE"
"It's no padded cell... just a place where for a few moments, members can enjoy complete silence and unwind from the tensions of business," said V. physical director Art Burgess.

He said other Y's across the country had tried the experiment and the "quiet room" had proven a popular feature.

SPACE CONVERTED
YMCA officials hope to enlist enough members among city businessmen to launch construction of the club premises by Aug. 15. Completion date is set for Oct. 1. Existing space in the YMCA will be converted to this use.

The club will include steam bath; a massage room, sun lamp room in addition to the quiet room. Membership will cost $82 a year.

TO JUDGE SWIM
Her visit to Victoria is sponsored by Donald Carley manager of Victoria Riding Academy.

From Victoria Mrs. Indewick will go to judge a show at Haney, B.C. then return to England to rejoin the British equestrian team for a trip to Germany.

MINISTERS KEEN
"This is less than $7 a month," said Mr. Burgess. "Most people spend more than that looking after their cars."

Two prospective members who have indicated interest are Education Minister Leslie Peterson and Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston.

Ontario Support Solid

Riding Gives John D Tremendous Welcome

STRATFORD, Ont. (UPI)—Prime Minister John Diefenbaker stamped through south-western Ontario riding yesterday to a reception that indicated this part of the country is still solidly Conservative.

As he did on a five-day northern tour last week, Diefenbaker arrived on a political engagement, a visit to Stratford's famed Shaker-apee Festival for a day of handshaking and jolly humor in his best electioneering style.

His lightest load, which limited the prime minister to only one riding, Health Minister J. Walter Manly's relatively safe seat of Perth, But if the reception here was any criterion, this region remains as solidly Conservative as it was in the landslide of 1958.

In all, Diefenbaker, his wife, and the Manlys hit seven communities. They met only moderate success in Stratford itself where some 200 of the city's 21,000 inhabitants turned out for a noon session under overcast skies.

Elsewhere, however, it bordered on the fantastic.

He drew more than 400 of St. Mary's 2,000 residents to a morning gathering at the town hall. At least one-third of Listowel's 3,500 citizens turned out for their first look at a prime minister in 60 years.

At Milverton, it was 300 out of 1,000. At Ayrview, he seemed to have all the 600 townfolk.

The farmers was the same at each stop, he did a lot of speech-making, a maximum of handshaking and personal contact with the people.

If the reception had any effect on his plans for calling a general election, the prime minister hasn't said.

Asked by one Stratford youngster, when the next vote would be, Diefenbaker said back, "I don't know. They haven't told me."

Ice Cream Saves Life

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A dish of ice cream saved a three-year-old girl from serious injury when she drank gasoline mistaking it for water.

An inhalator crewman said the ice cream eaten before the mishap lined the stomach of Diane Friesen of North Surrey.

Diane drank the gasoline from a glass used to clean brushes at the home of a neighbor.

Celebrants At Sooke Fined $100

Two All-Sooke Day celebrants were fined $50 in Sooke police court yesterday for having liquor in a public place.

Police found liquor in the car with Thomas William Bigh, 19, of Sooke, when they checked a car on West Coast Road at 3 a.m. Sunday.

J. H. Reid, 3208 Westmorland, Victoria, was found with nine bottles of beer, a bottle of rye and a bottle of rum in a car parked at the side of the Sooke Road Saturday night. Police said the parked car forced traffic to cross a solid double line.

Eichmann Case Complete

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Israel completed its case against accused mass-murderer Adolf Eichmann yesterday, easily 15 weeks after it started. Only summations for both sides and the verdict remain.

TIME ALLOWED
 Presiding Justice Moshe Landau granted Attorney General Gideon Hausner until Aug. 3 to prepare his summation of the trial in which Eichmann was charged with responsibility in the wartime slaughter of 6,000,000 Jews.

ADJUDGMENT AGREED
 The former SS colonel's West German attorney, Dr. Robert Servatius, also finished his defense yesterday. Landau announced he would summation to be finished the week of Aug. 7 and agreed to Hausner's request for a nine-day adjournment.

A verdict is not expected until the fall.

Cuba Unveils Soviet-Made Air Force

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's new Russian-supplied jet fighter air force made its first public appearance yesterday on the eve of the eighth anniversary of the Cuban premier's 24th of July revolutionary movement.

FIRST GLIMPSE
 Six Soviet MiG-15s scouted over Ciego de Avila as Russian commandant Yuri Gagarin, first man in space, reviewed a massive 75,000-man gymnkhana. For the Cuban men in the street, it was his first glimpse of the Russian aircraft long reported as "under wraps" in Cuba.

LATE START
 The MiGs made their appearance as Gagarin arrived at the reviewing stand where he was awaited by Castro and President Osvaldo Dorticos. The gymnkhana got underway 35 minutes late for unspecified reasons. A small plane flew low at least twice over the huge assemblage at the Square, and disappeared.

Judge's Decision

'Sleeping Beauty' Girls Returned to Parents

CLEVELAND (AP)—A juvenile court judge Tuesday sent the "sleeping beauty" slaters home on a trial basis to their mother, Mrs. Lilian Fratantonio, after nearly a year in a children's home.

"Man, this is great," said Vincent Fratantonio after hearing that his children could go home. Mrs. Fratantonio was convicted last Dec. 6 of mistreating her daughters Bernadette, 4, and Venita, 6, by isolating them from the world in prolonged comas. The case of the "sleeping beauties" mystified medical men for several months.

Mrs. Fratantonio was fined $300 and sentenced to one year in jail, but she is free on bond pending appeal of her conviction.

Bizerte Foes Share Beer While War Danger Grows

TUNIS, Tunisia (UPI)—Despite the cease-fire ordered last Saturday by both sides, French and Arab residents continued to flee from the Bizerte area. They feared another explosion of the fighting which cost the lives of an estimated 1,000 Tunisians. At least 21 French soldiers also were killed.

FLIGHT CONTINUES
 Bourguiba sounded his warning at a news conference in Tunis between meetings with United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld who hurried here from New York in response to an urgent appeal from the Tunisian president.

AGE CLAIMS
 Grady, the cow, who became world famous in February of 1948 by getting trapped in a silo, is dead.

JUST GOT TIRED
 "She was like one of the family," Mach said. He felt "she just got tired and died of old age." She was 19 years old.

SQUEEZED THROUGH
 Finally Grady was freed from head to foot and this enabled her to squeeze her 1,200 pounds through an opening of 17 by 25 1/2 inches.

YANKS URGED
 Bourguiba suggested that the Arab states and other countries which have offered aid also send heavy equipment, such as armored cars, tanks and anti-aircraft guns, in addition to troops.

He also suggested that other countries which have French bases on their territory demonstrate against them to reinforce the Tunisian demand for the evacuation of the Bizerte base.

Last Saturday, the UN Security Council ordered an immediate cease-fire in Bizerte and the withdrawal of troops of both sides to their previous positions. Both sides stopped shooting but French forces remained firmly in control of the city of Bizerte and the surrounding area.

A Solution

A STARTLING but refreshing idea for a permanent solution to the Berlin crisis has been put forward by a group of 14 British Labor Party members of Parliament. Their suggestion is as simple as it is unique: to transfer United Nations headquarters to the split German capital, and neutralize the perennial trouble spot by bringing it once and for all under international administration.

The proposal should not be discarded lightly, for it contains much merit.

For one thing, it would put an end to the constant objections raised by the Communist states about the present location of the UN building. For another, it would bring about Berlin's neutralization by full consent of the world body rather than by its high-handed imposition by the two great powers—Russia and the United States—solely as a defensive measure.

It would be difficult indeed to find a more fitting site for such a monument to peace than Berlin—the very city which saw both the conception and the final degrading death pangs of two world conflicts and lives even yet under daily threat of invasion 16 years after the last shot of the 1939-1945 war was fired.

If the plan is reached the point of serious consideration, objections will doubtless be raised by both East and West Germany in the name of sovereign rights. It may even conflict with the strategy and principles of the major powers on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

However great these protests may be, they could justly be overruled by this proposed solution which could well result in bringing both sides victory in peace rather than defeat in war.

Downtown Parking

AN ODD position on downtown Victoria parking has been taken by Mr. John Tisdale, the member of the Legislature for Saanich.

It is slightly odd in the first place that Mr. Tisdale, who is not registered as a city voter, should presume to tell Victoria what he thinks it should do. But he does business in the city, and he represents a client who has expressed interest in privately building an off-street parking facility. This gives him some license to talk, although not as an MLA.

More odd is his line of argument. In one breath he says the parking-meter fee should not be 10 cents an hour. As long as they increase the parking meters they will deter shoppers from coming downtown—and in the next he opposes a downtown area vote on civic provision of off-street parking facilities guaranteed against loss by downtown taxpayers because, he says, it will kill his client's plans.

Would not a street-meter fee of five cents an hour kill his client's plans? If street parking downtown were five cents an hour, how many motorists would use his client's building? It seems obvious that such an elevator-type building could not be operated profitably even with a fee of 10 cents an hour; more likely it would have to be two or three times that much.

Would Mr. Tisdale then have city council postpone or cancel the vote of downtown property-owners, return the street-parking fee to five cents, and twiddle its fingers waiting to see how his client made out—or if he went ahead—while the traffic and parking situation grew worse?

It may be that downtown property-owners will reject guaranteeing the proposed civic parking facilities against loss.

If they do, it probably will be a blow in the long run to all the taxpayers of the city, but the downtown taxpayers will have themselves to blame if their own businesses suffer. It is to be hoped, however, that they will not be encouraged to vote "no" by the unreasonable objections of the MLA for Saanich.

Promoted on Merit

SUCH accusations as might have been made that the Government of Canada would use the departure of Mr. James E. Coyne to put a Conservative protégé into the governorship of the Bank of Canada have been dispelled by the appointment to that office of Mr. Louis Rasminsky.

Mr. Rasminsky, as deputy governor, was next in line of succession to the Bank of Canada's top post, and as such was the logical choice. Although first appointed to the bank during a Liberal regime he has steered a course clear of politics and his concentration as an international monetary expert has over the years done much to increase the prestige of the Bank of Canada in world currency affairs.

He was one of the Canadian delegates to the meeting at Savannah at which the International Monetary Fund and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development was established, and he retains a position as executive director of both these organizations. He was also the technical adviser to the Canadian delegation to the San Francisco conference.

It is also noteworthy that Mr. Rasminsky, born in Montreal, has scored a personal triumph by being the first Jew to take the top office in either the Bank of Canada or any of the Canadian chartered banks. Although discrimination has never been alleged, there was some belief that in 1955 the Bank of Canada chose Mr. Coyne rather than Mr. Rasminsky to succeed Mr. Towers partly on the racial angle.

Be that as it may, Mr. Rasminsky now gets his reward for good service and the banking and financial circles of Canada believe he is a man who will give them good and solid leadership, and above all a monetary stability that will make the complicated business of doing business a little easier than it has been in recent years of severe fluctuation.

Spies in the Skies

THE Red Army newspaper says that U.S. "spy in the sky" satellites are an act of aggression when they cross foreign territory. If ever the kettle called the pot black this is it.

Who started this sputnik business anyway? Right now there are half-a-dozen "spies" of this kind in the sky; and they bear both Russian and American markings. All of them pass over foreign territory as they orbit the earth.

And the first to launch this new type of spy was the U.S.S.R.

Perhaps the Soviet Union is irked because there are more U.S. orbiting satellites than Russian. Or perhaps the Red Army is getting ready to shoot down a U.S. sputnik as it passes high over Russia, and this accusation is an excuse in advance. Who knows.

ON this page yesterday was an extract from the Halifax Mail-Star which said, "Maggie" May Go; and aptly indeed there was an overline with the words: "Some of Regret."

This was a sentiment indeed quickly to himself by yours truly.

Nations everywhere suffer nostalgia when a ship they have known and loved heads or has headed, for the ship breakers. A landman who has saved briefly but intimately the special tang of a particular vessel can be excused a similar feeling.

And as some readers of this column may remember, this writer enjoyed the hounteous favor of the "Maggie" for night on a month's moving across and back the Atlantic.

It was a memorable odyssey.

This writer once had an aunt by the same name, comely name and she was of ample proportions. So was the lady known as HMCS Magnificent, to give her the titular dignity befitting her size and style.

There are bigger aircraft carriers than the "Maggie" but she was large enough in all conscience. I find that one day when I was lost in her I wrote:

"She is so big, and her geography is so full of iron doors and ladders... Pity the plight of the landlubber when he's somewhere in the bowels of this mighty hull, maybe in a steel tunnel that leads to a hundred different places. And you meet a sailor and ask him where so-and-so is and he replies, 'Three flats forward on the port side. And you don't know whether you're facing north, south, east or west; whether the ship's going astern or sideways, whether you're fore and aft, and...'

But without, I wrote, 'twas wonderful.

And so it was, and if sailors do not express themselves quite as naively there will be many a longing thought cast backwards to the "Maggie" as they learn of her contemplated demise.

The Royal Navy, to which she was returned after 11 years with the RCN, is reducing its carrier strength and the "Maggie" is a venerable veteran, among those scheduled to swallow her final anchor.

A pity such things have to be.

She was a happy ship, majestic in motion and impressive in repose. And her complement as I recall were perfect hosts, the gentlemanly consorts of her ladyship. Mounting the accommodation ladder after a month ashore on the other side, my notebook read, "was like getting back home."

And home the "Maggie" was to several thousands of Canadian sailors.

It would be presumptuous of yours truly to claim any imprint on the ship that briefly cast her mantle over him; but ships do become imbued with the character of the men who sail her and reflect their spirit.

When "Maggie" goes, therefore, she will take with her portions of the lives of those who served her.

And, this writer may perhaps be excused for adding, a little bit of his too.

The Gateway to Freedom

By CASSANDRA, from Berlin

I WISH this town would keep out of my life. I first tangled with Berlin over a quarter of a century ago when I had an initial symbolic encounter with it. I stayed then in a scruffy hotel in the Charlottenburg district.

The bed was so hard that I had to keep getting up to have a rest. That's the kind of a city that it was, in, and I suppose will be for ever.

When I had got on in the world a bit I found myself staying at the famous Adlon Hotel right up to late August, 1955.

But that was unconvincing, too. The Nazis had long come out of the water and were running all over the place.

Back again in 1944, Berlin was distinctly horizontal and breathing heavily; soon had been working overhead.

And now here we are again, quiescent what were talking about—round the door? Not so. We are back again on Berlin's favorite theme—the subject of war.

Herr Willy Brandt is the chief spokesman (mayor) of Berlin.

Brandt is young. He is only 47, three years older than President Kennedy, with whom he hit it off famously. He is broadshouldered, has a great disarming grin, and would, I guess, be more than a useful man in any rough and tumble, political or otherwise.

I have not got a natural affinity for the German Man, but I liked Brandt immediately. He looks like his record—resolute, strong and open hearted.

We waited a full two seconds on pianos in his enormous room in the hideous ugly town hall, and then got down to business.

There is the oval of nuclear fusion in the air in these parts, so I asked the burgomaster if this present crisis was more serious than those which had preceded it.

He said it was wrong to think of this as merely a Berlin crisis. It was much wider than that. Khrushchev was playing on the whole chessboard this time.

But the burgomaster added: "I don't think it is reasonable to expect that the Communists will start an attack on a blockade."

No Retreat?

I did not inquire of Herr Brandt whether he thought the

The Packback

W E have some guests from the United States staying with us. It is their first visit to Canada. Before retiring, one of them said:

"We are a little surprised to hear you talking practically the way we do. We thought you would have an English accent."

Years ago, I used to be a little nettled when our American friends took it for granted that we were still a colony and paid taxes to England. But here, in 1961, was a curious recurrence of an impression I thought had largely vanished south of the border.

Next day, our guests went on a shopping trip downtown and to have a look at our city. "Why, everybody," they said with astonishment when they arrived home, "talks the way we do!"

"Well, what did you expect?" I enquired.

"We are able to get several Canadian radio and TV stations," they said, "which we listen to regularly. And almost every other actor speaks with an English accent."

It had not occurred to me what a considerable proportion of Old Country people we have in Canadian radio and TV.

Of course, some are only

Russians were reasonable people.

I asked him whether Mr. Khrushchev had, by his public announcements and his aggressive attitude, put himself into a position of no retreat.

He replied: "This is a very important point. I have the impression that he does not want to sign a peace treaty with Herr Ulbricht (the Communist puppet ruler of East Germany) but that he does want a peace treaty with the two Germans."

But since Vienna I am inclined to believe that Khrushchev is the prisoner of his own words. It may well be that he now feels that he is forced to do something to assert Soviet leadership in the satellite bloc.

Did he feel that President Kennedy had also irrevocably committed himself and that he, too, was steering a collision course?

Brandt did not think this was the case. Mr. Kennedy was very much his own master.

Certainly

I told Herr Brandt that there had been American criticism of Brandt's attitude towards Berlin, and that we had been accused of being soft in our approach. The suggestion was that the unwelcome smell of appeasement was in the air.

What did he think of that?

He was quite unworried. "I have full confidence in the statements made by your prime minister, and I will remember that special care was taken at the Geneva Conference in 1959 to make clear the firm stand on Berlin of the United Kingdom government."

His certainty on this is worth noting. For Herr Brandt has described Berlin as "the great test situation" in world affairs.

Berlin is ready for siege. If the roads, railways and canals are blocked to this Soviet-ruled city, emergency plans will at once be put into force.

"Berlin," said Herr Brandt, "has better supplies than any threatened city ever had."

Then, looking at his watch, he added:

"If something happened now, at four o'clock, we would have our plans in action by five. This is my main reason for believing that the Communists will not risk a blockade."

"Now you can see one of the advantages of golf," he told his pupil.

"Well, you could hardly play golf in this weather, could you?"

"But you seem to be fishing."

"That's right."

"Then what is your object?"

"My object, sir, is to show the wife that I've no time to peel the potatoes."

The Right Answer

By OTTO VON HARNBERG

EAST WEST tensions are growing visibly. Public utterances on both sides are getting sharper. Military measures are taken, which everyone is eager to look to the end. If this is, as is habitual in the Free World, it is unprecedented in the Marxist-Leninist camp. Hence public opinion is getting alarmed.

Seasoned travellers returning recently from the so-called People's Democracies report unanimously that the masses are close to panic. In the liberal countries capital begins to flee the "threatened areas" as if there existed a safety rope in case of a nuclear showdown.

The initiative of these developments stems, of course, from Khrushchev. He no longer takes off his shoes but puts on his gold-braided uniform. This time, nevertheless, the Americans are firing back in kind, an attitude unknown since the death of John Foster Dulles. Washington's new approach, strongly supported by the De Gaulle-Adenauer team, is the main reason of the fear which would be much more general if we were not in the middle of vacation time.

Since there is every reason to believe that the crisis will become worse in the coming weeks, we must try to understand its real significance.

Russia can not wish an armed conflict. Berlin is not worth wholesale destruction. For several years the United States has had the means to wipe the Soviet Union off the map, even if Moscow should launch the first attack. Despite the famous "nuclear gap," the American potential remains well beyond the point of saturation, thanks to the aircraft of SAC, the underground launching sites and especially Polaris.

A war under these conditions would logically lead to the victory of a third power.

This fact weighs heavily on the mind of the Kremlin, especially since the Chinese-Russian differences continue unabated. Recently this column reported the going-on in Saseen and the fierce struggle of the two Communist powers for the control of the World Federation of Trade Unions.

Now we note a diplomatic offensive of Peking in Bulgaria, while Khrushchev tries to contain its dangerous campaign by agreements with North Korea and Viet Minh. In the light of this evolution it would seem absurd were the USSR to tie itself down in Europe at the very moment its principal Asiatic ally is not altogether reliable—Moscow has never been able to act ferociously and simultaneously on two fronts; this is certainly not the case today.

Of course, politics is not an exact science. War can break out by accident. But logically the present situation contains only a minimum risk of a generalized conflict, despite many alarm-raising.

The USSR is in a favorable diplomatic position, having left open the rear door for a graceful withdrawal. Khrushchev states that if the West should reject his demands he would sign a peace-treaty with his Polish satellite. He has been careful not to reveal any significant details. He can then, if faced with a genuine challenge, give the document a purely symbolic character without losing his face.

The present crisis thus seems in final analysis nothing but a powerful renaissance of western positions before opening negotiations. It is furthermore a case of blackmail. The answer so far has been the right one. It is imperative not to give in. Hence, the urgent need to explain for our public opinion candidly all the pertinent facts of the present situation.

For China

From The Globe and Mail

Better Policy

From The Globe and Mail

THE pendulum of government action has swung back to police raids in an attempt to uncover evidence concerning illegal smuggling of Chinese into Canada. Royal Canadian Mounted Police and some Hong Kong officers swept down on Vancouver's Chinatown last week. The raid followed an appeal from the Dominion government for illegal immigrants to come forward and give evidence without fear of deportation. This appeal followed a series of RCMP raids on Chinese communities and organizations across Canada last year.

It is hard to understand what the government hopes to achieve by these raids since they have been tried before without success and there is little to suggest that they will be successful this time.

The smuggling of Chinese into Canada is an old story. Canada's immigration policy, as it applies to the Chinese, is tailor-made to encourage its continuance.

At present, there is only one way a Chinese can enter this country and that is by proving that he or she is directly related to someone already in Canada. Taking that fact and combining it with evidence of the poverty and uncertainty existing in Hong Kong today for Chinese it is obvious that a market for faked documents is bound to be lucrative and patronized.

Canada should not specifically exclude any race. We should be taking people from every corner of the globe, to the extent that they can fit into the economic and social pattern of life in this country. Such a policy would appear to be more just and efficacious in ending the Chinese smuggling racket than the RCMP raids have proved to date.

British Dog Lover Plans Luxury Home For Stray Pooches

SCINTILLATE, England — Dog lover Dorothy Green has made a will setting up a $100,000 ($100,000) trust fund to build and maintain a luxury home for stray dogs.

"Some people will call me a crank for leaving all my money to dogs," said real estate dealer Green, "but they have been my greatest friends."

MONTREAL — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev opened the Moscow World Youth Forum with a message charging that "the reactionary forces in the West want to plunge humanity in a nuclear war abyss."

BERLIN — Professor Hans Feilberg, American Nobel Prize winner, called for a German peace treaty which would lead to the demilitarization of all Germany and neighboring countries, including Poland and Czechoslovakia.

LONDON — Former British prime minister Sir Anthony Eden took his seat in the House of Lords as the Earl of Avon.

WASHINGTON — Jacqueline Kennedy celebrated her 32nd birthday Friday but the White House has no information on any special plans to celebrate the occasion.

CORONA, Calif. — Charles Triggott, 24, convicted with Dr. B. Bernard Black of the 1958 murder of his wife, has undergone surgery for removal of a tumor.

LONDON — Labor MP Wilf Brin Hamblin suggested that a $100,000 plan to renovate the Kensington Palace should be stopped "in view of the need to curtail public expenditure."

VANCOUVER — Brigadier Alexander Maclean, producer of the Vancouver International Festival's military searchlight display, suggested such spectacles be established across Canada.

CALGARY — Directors of the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede voted to give $5,000 to the widow and family of Willie Little Bear, blood Indian from Cardston, Alta., who was fatally injured July 15 at the stampede.

VANCOUVER — B.C. Electric chairman A. E. (Bibi) Granger still is in critical condition at his home with leukemia, a company spokesman said.

VANCOUVER — Dr. Robert Harvey Clark, Emeritus Professor of Chemistry at the University of B.C., died in hospital here. He was 81.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The with the project as outlined B.C. government was told in the agreement.

Tuesday it must within a matter of months commit itself to the obligations set out in the International Columbia River power development treaty or accept full responsibility for the consequences.

The warning came from Justice Minister Fulton, Ottawa's chief Columbia negotiator.

MUST BE LOST

He said the treaty—and the 50-50 share in downstream power benefits Canada is to receive under it—might be lost if the U.S. is not assured quickly Canada will proceed and confirm for as low as 1.5 mills. Ottawa's previous figure of 2.75 mills was disputed by Mr. Bennett.

At a press conference where he released new low estimate figures which—whether by design or chance—will deal some thunder from the Columbia report to be made early next month by the B.C. Energy Board, Mr. Fulton said:

Fulton Figure Right? Shrum Won't Say No

VANCOUVER (CP) — Chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum of the B.C. Energy Board said Tuesday he wouldn't say Justice Minister Fulton's $3,600,000 estimate for power development of the Columbia River is not correct.

However, the energy board head, now preparing a report on Columbia and Peace River power costs, said any cost estimate depends on three assumptions—annual load growth, the load factor and area to be served.

Load growth is annual increase in power demand and the load factor is the percentage of full plant capacity being used.

Said a four-month study by Montreal Engineering Co., an independent hydro-electric engineering firm, has indicated downstream benefits power—the Canadian share of extra power produced in U.S. plants as a result of controlled river flow in Canada—could be delivered to major B.C.

Victorious Indians Warn Whites Off

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — Signs marked "Indian reserve, no trespassing except on business" have been posted on the Squamish Indian reserve following a battle with a contracting firm over construction of a road works along the waterfront of the reserve. The federal government has halted construction of the plant pending an inquiry into the Squamish band's claim the site is part of the reserve. Meanwhile the signs will remind the white men the reserve is the private property of the Indians, said a spokesman for the band.

B.C. Power Gains Dollar In Rally

VANCOUVER — B.C. Power made a spirited rally to 33 1/2 in late trading, representing a gain of a point on the day. MacMillan-Powell was also firmer at 37, while small gains were made in Massey Ferguson, Dominion Tar and Trans Mountain.

In mines Craigmont strengthened to 14 but Bellin was off four cents at 31 and Grandue was easy at 23. Sibak slackened off again to 38.

Spurt Near Close
TORONTO (CP) — The stock market spurted ahead in a late-day flurry of trading to finish ahead during light turnover.

Many groups that had been on the downside all day suddenly sparked and came out with fractional gains. Liquors and banks and financial institutions were down on the whole. Golds, for the second consecutive day, provided the lead for the base metals.

McIntyre Porcupine took the lion's share by rising 1 1/2 to 37 1/2, while other smaller winners went to Hollinger, Dome, Giant Yellowknife and Kerr Addison.

In light western oil trading, Home A. Pacific Petroleum, Dome, Bailey Selburn A. and Central Del Rio all lost a few cents while gains in the same range went to Calgary and Edmonton and Canadian Devonian.

Specialized transactions included 50,000 shares of Canadian Export Gas at $1.68.

Mine Trade Heavy
MONTREAL (CP) — Stocks were mixed. Trading was active among the mines and light in the industrials.

In utilities, B.C. Power added 1/4 to 34.

In mines, McIntyre-Porcupine rose 2 1/2 to 38. Kerr-Addison gained 35 cents at $9.90, Jubilee lost 20 cents at $3.55, and Saurcon at $1.35 eased five cents.

In western oil, Royallie slipped 1/4 to 9 1/2, Pacific Petroleum lost 1/4 to 11 1/2 and Central Del Rio gained five cents at $5.75.

New York Rises
NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices and volume rose sharply in advance of President Kennedy's speech.

National defense stocks, steels, rails, oils, and electronics, flocked on substantial gains in many cases as a sluggish morning session changed quickly to a sharp upswing after lunchtime.

A final burst of buying in the last half hour made the victory complete. Wall Street traders apparently having discounted whatever bad news could come from the Kennedy talk and feeling that higher prices were in order for those stocks that could benefit from a nation on a partial war footing.

After the close, U.S. Steel reported, as expected, that second quarter earnings more than covered the dividend. The stock tacked on 1/4.

London Closes Firm
LONDON (Reuters) — Stock markets were generally calm with some narrow irregular price movements.

There was renewed firmness in gilt-edged securities, especially the undated stocks.

Home banks eased but Canadians were firm. Industrials provided a number of bright spots and among engineering shares Vickers were prominent, while shipping shares were again in demand and generally firm. Tobacco shares, however, were easier.

British Measures Ease Bond Prices

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Of all the tough austerity measures imposed on the British public yesterday by Chancellor Selwyn Lloyd, the one most likely to affect Canada is the increase in the bank rate from five to seven per cent.

The availability of treasury bills at the higher rate is expected to attract much of the world's floating money which moves about in search of the most lucrative market.

It is not known exactly how much money of this type is at present located in Canada, but it is perhaps not so much as it was a year or so ago when the Bank of Canada's rediscount rate was roughly double its present level.

WHOLESALE INCREASE

At the same time there is probably enough of this type of money to create some selling of Canadian short term securities. Following the announcement in London yesterday there was fractional easing of most Canadian government bonds, ranging from a nickel to a quarter according to maturity.

The seven per cent British bank rate was cut three years ago to five per cent when the government thought hopefully that the country had turned the economic corner.

Now the British have not only to face the repressive control of high interest rates, but they are also being asked to suffer a wholesale increase in the price of practically everything they buy. Whiskey is up about a dollar a bottle, and a general increase of about 10 per cent is made in most other consumer goods.

It must be about the toughest single dose of economic medicine ever offered to a modern community in peace time.

To those who were extolling the British economic recovery only a few months ago, the switch back to "austerity and parsimony" must be hard to bear.

BEER TO DRUGS

The Canadian Brewery firm of John Labatt Ltd., which owns the Lucky Lager Brewery in Victoria, is going into the pharmaceutical business as a new enterprise.

Labatt has teamed up with Phillips Electronics Industries Ltd. to buy out the 39-year-old drug and pharmaceutical firm of Charles R. Will and Co. Ltd. of London, Ont.

Labatt and Phillips have formed a new company, Canada Duphar Pharmaceuticals, to operate the joint venture.

John H. Moore president of

Bank Rate Affects Canada

Labatt says his firm has sufficient funds on hand to finance its share of the business, and adds that Labatt's interest in pharmaceuticals is based on its basic research into fermentation and production of vitamins and vitamin products.

Phillips Electronics is an associate of "Phillips-Duphar," a Netherlands firm and one of the largest drug manufacturers in the world.

IMPERIALISM OUT

To some people at least the word "imperialism" appears to have a undemocratic connotation—perhaps a link with the feudal past. At any rate Imperial Investment—Ltd. of Vancouver, which recently entered the U.S. money lending business appears to find the word "disadvantageous."

Peter P. Saunders, president of the company, announced that from Sept. 1, the name of the company will be changed to Lauretide Financial Corporation Limited. The Lauretide comes from one of its eastern subsidiaries, Lauretide Acceptance Corporation which it took over some time ago.

HBC APPROVES

The Hudson's Bay Company has approved the increase in the authorized capital of the company from 7,000,000 shares to 15,000,000 shares each of $1 par. Also approved by the shareholders is a bonus issue of one new $1 share for each share held at the close of business Aug. 18.

Garden Notes

Sore Back Avoided

By H. V. CERNUT, PH.D.

One major problem the busy back yard gardener must face these days is how to maintain the human content of his soil. Chemical fertilizers do a fine job of feeding our plants but don't have the bulky qualities needed for maintaining the soil itself in good health. Fertilized Manure, ideal for the purpose, isn't easy to come by any more, and in any case the somewhat don't seem to travel to the night of a big manure pile sitting in the middle of the garden.

Compost is marvelous stuff and certainly there is no excuse for wasting fallen leaves and lawn mowings as badly needed, but the way a enormous pile of leaves will shrink down through the winter is appalling and, when the time comes to spread the stuff, there is never enough to go around.

Straw seems to be one of the best answers to the human problem. Straw doesn't take up too much storage space in the garden and isn't too expensive if you buy it in reasonably large quantities. I have heard it is sometimes possible to pick up a load of mucky or spoiled hay, just for the cartage charges, and of course, this is just as useful for our purpose as the good stuff, but I can't say I have ever run into a deal like this.

Straw is especially good where small fruits are grown. It is best applied in the water or early spring, whenever the garden can find the time, and spread to a depth of nine inches around and among the bushes. It is always best to put down a good sprinkling of fertilizer first, about one cupful per square yard.

As a result of strawing the plot, there will be no winter digging to do and no hoeing to carry out in the spring. It makes very close to a no-work form of gardening, and in fact, this is the method recommended by Ruth Stout in her amusing book "How to Have a Green Thumb Without a Sore Back."

The result of this straw mulch is a soil that remains loose, open and friable, the worms are attracted and perform their most useful function under its cover and the ground becomes filled with the fibrous feeding roots of our plants right up to the surface.

Black currants are especially appreciative of this treatment, and in fact, they push ahead so fast that extra-care pruning becomes necessary. The idea also works well with raspberries, loganberries and the red and white currants.

With gooseberries, some gardeners think it is best to delay the strawing until May, because the berry crop comes a bit late on plants mulched in fall or winter, as the soil takes longer to warm up in the spring. This doesn't bother the home gardener, but to a commercial grower, a late crop means low prices.

The effect of this straw treatment has to be seen to be believed. It makes winter work among the bushes far cleaner. The muddy boots problem is solved. Annual weeds are smothered. It makes picking and pruning a pleasure and the plants themselves seem happier and healthier. As the straw disintegrates, it is simply topped up with more of the same.

I am convinced that many of the queer nutritional disorders we encounter with small fruits disappear when the human content of the soil is held at a high level this way, and I believe too that straw has a certain antibiotic effect, freshening "dried" soil and restoring fertility.

Miracle Saved Us, Says Priest

Wind Shifts Flames After Church Prayer

WILCOX, Sask. (CP)—Father Rev. Athol Murray described a sudden shift of wind, credited with saving the town from a $1,000,000 elevator fire which threatened to destroy it, as "another Notre Dame miracle."

As flames quickly climbed elevator buildings, a southeast wind blew sparks across the town, launching off smoldering fires on rooftops and in surrounding prairie.

Suddenly an hour after the fire started, the wind swung and blowing from the southwest carried flying sparks clear of the town.

Wilcox is a town of 210 population about 35 miles south of Regina.

"I went down to the church and the wind shifted. It was another Notre Dame miracle," Father Murray told reporters.

The shirt-sleeved priest, who has built an internationally famous college on a financial shoestring, did his share of firefighting too.

The bushes around variety hall caught fire. Behind the hall stood two 100-gallon tanks of propane.

"Parents, everyone helped. If the wind hadn't changed, the whole town would have gone. If only the hounds had been here. They could have done a lot."

The "hounds" are his college boys, away for the summer recess.

"Infinite credit should go to Milestone and Rouleau," he said, referring to neighboring towns who rallied to the call for help.

That was the last of the miracles of the fire line. He looked, looking at the smoldering ruins of the Wilcox Community Rink.

Buzz Brill, Nick Metz and Don Metz, Garth Borch, Ken

Dority, Aurel Joliet—Father Murray recalled the names of National Hockey League stars who had played on ice at the 41-year-old Wilcox Community Rink.

A story is told of the hungry '70s when the college had come almost to the end of its tether and owed $100 to a grocer who needed the money to pay off his own debts.

Father Murray is said to have called his students to the chapel and said: "pray."

When Father Murray stepped from his chapel, the story continues, a strange standing outside handed the Roman Catholic priest a cheque for $100.

"You," he said, looking about the town saved from destruction by a change in the wind. "It was another Notre Dame miracle."

Sheilah Graham in Rome

Loren, Ponti Take Chance

ROME (NANA)—Sophia Loren and Carlo Ponti are so sure they will not be prosecuted by the Italian government on that bigamy charge, they have bought an entire film studio in Italy, between here and Leghorn.

Sophia is there now, starting as "Madame Sans Gene." Her official residence in Switzerland, because of taxes.

Gina Lollobrigida, I'm told, will have to pay a big sum of money in back taxes to the Italian government.

which is hot on her trail... I find that Gina's popularity here has lessened since she made those films in Hollywood. But Sophia was saved by her last movie, "Two Women," which I hate to report was made in Italy.

Director Richard Fleischer (he did "The Vikings" and "Compulsion"), is nearing the end of the year-long "Barabbas" schedule. He has an Italian crew. "Do you speak Italian to them?" I asked Dick. "No, they speak English to me," he grinned. There have been so many Hollywood films made in Italy that practically everybody now speaks English.

Man Cuts Bills

Makes Own Power After BCE Battle

ABBOTSFORD (CP)—A service station operator in this Fraser Valley farming community is generating his own electricity after a row with the British Columbia Electric Company.

Harry Flodin told the firm he cut off the power to his station on the Trans-Canada highway. He set up a 10 kilo watt diesel generator.

Flodin said his battle started when B.C. Electric refused to service his trucks in the area at his station.

"The company won't buy my products so I decided I would darned well stop buying theirs," he said.

Flodin let his power bills lapse for three months until they totalled $137.

Then he offered to pay the bills by supplying gasoline, oil and repairs to the company's trucks.

"But the BCE refused... and I told them to rat off the power," Flodin said.

Fred Sterling, Abbotsford district manager for the company, said: "We told him we had commitments with other local firms and that we do not issue contracts in response to threats."

Flodin said he burns station lights night and day for about $9 a week, the cost of diesel oil for his generator.

He estimates that BCE power would have cost him $300 a month.

And if the generator breaks down, Flodin has rigged up a bicycle traction device to operate his gasoline pumps.

It's Called 'Wilson'

New Comet Spotted By Airline Pilot

SEATTLE (AP)—I've been looking for one all my life," said the man credited with discovering Comet Wilson while flying at 28,000 feet off the Oregon coast.

A. Stewart Wilson, 34, of Seattle, second officer on a Pan American World Airways flight from Honolulu, said he was looking casually for the planet Mercury with his binoculars.

Then a wedge of light appeared and narrowed to a point—the head of a comet.

At San Francisco, other airline pilots also reported seeing a mysterious light Sunday and Monday mornings, but Wilson, an amateur star gazer, apparently was first to report it.

When Wilson got home he tried to telephone Harvard Observatory. He couldn't raise anyone so he sent a telegram.

Harvard reported the discovery Monday and said the name would be Comet Wilson.

The new comet has a long tail and third magnitude brightness, which makes it two to three times dimmer than the North Star but much brighter than the Milky Way.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance in the privacy of their own homes without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved, and while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that millions were able to make such statements as "I had been a slave to a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of over 10 to 20 years standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or strappings of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissues on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is known as Preparation H, and is available in many forms, including ointment, cream, and suppository.

Preparation H suppositories are said to all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Summer Students Switch to Session in the Sun

Soaking up sun, when they have a chance, is the favorite occupation of students from all over B.C. who are attending summer session at Victoria University. Representative of teachers seeking higher qualifications, who predominate among those taking con-

Chatterton Warns

Criticism May Kill $2,500,000 Project

Too much local criticism of a federal proposal to build a $2,500,000 headquarters for Canadian Marine Services at the Inner Harbor could tip the scales in favor of moving the project to Vancouver.

DENISE NICHOLSON

Bakers Hold

Bread Boost Later

Price of bread here will not go up now by one cent a loaf, as expected, it was disclosed yesterday.

But there are indications that the increase may not be far off.

A spokesman for independent bakers in Greater Victoria said yesterday flour prices are up and shortening is currently at its "highest" level.

HOLD THE LINE

So far, he said, "we intend to hold the line in the hope that prices will come down. In any event, we will hold at the present level as long as we can."

Earlier, McGavin's Bakeries, which last week started it all by announcing a one-cent increase in its bread prices on the Vancouver Island, said the move would be delayed indefinitely.

NO REASON

A. M. McGavin, head of the McGavin-Tonastmaster consolidation, refused to give any reason for calling off the price increase which was scheduled for yesterday. He said there would be no increases anywhere until the price goes up in Vancouver.

In Victoria, Weston Bakeries Ltd. announced Monday it is not contemplating any increase.

"I am also hopeful that the department of transport will see fit to reconsider its plans."

IN TWO YEARS

Ottawa wants construction of the $2,500,000 project to begin within two years.

Feeling is that location of the department of transport dock behind the Johnson Street bridge leaves D.O.T. ships vulnerable in case the lift bridge is put out of commission.

List of winners of Royal Institution Scholarships for Grade 13 as well as those of university and Chris Spencer scholarships for Grade 12 university entrance will be published in the Colonist Thursday morning.

Election Staff Ready to Go

Preparations for the next general election are proceeding apace in Victoria federal riding.

Returning officer Edmond de St. Jorre yesterday confirmed he had asked the winning candidate and runner-up in the last election, in 1958, to nominate two enumerators for each of the 288 polling divisions.

WITHOUT WAITING

As long ago as last November, said Mr. de St. Jorre, the chief electoral officer for Canada instructed all returning officers to do whatever preliminary work was necessary without waiting for the announcement of an election.

In the process, polling divisions in the federal riding of Victoria have been completely overhauled and the number has been increased from 174 to 288 to take care of population growth in specific areas.

GREATEST GROWTH

Mr. de St. Jorre said the greatest growth has been shown in parts of Oak Bay north of Lansdowne, Esquimalt and the Saanich peninsula.

Maj. S. S. Penoy, returning officer for Esquimalt-Saanich, said there is already a full slate of enumerators in his riding from the by-election held two months ago.

He added: "We are all ready to go anytime an election is called."

CCF Here For Argue

Victoria Federal CCF Association, at a meeting this week decided to support CCF leader Hazen Argue's bid for leadership of the New Party. The group is sending a three-member delegation to the founding convention in Ottawa at the end of this month. Delegates are Neil Hindie and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson.

Beaver Lake

Swimmers Avert Triple Drowning

A Saanich man nearly drowned last night while trying to swim with two friends to a raft near the shore at Beaver Lake. He was rescued by the other swimmers.

Miles Johnson, 34, of 1275 Pearce Crescent, is in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph's Hospital where he was being kept overnight for observation.

WEED TANGLE

He was swimming towards the raft with Karl Wylie, 276 Crease Avenue, and Tony Gelsthorpe, 1238 St. Patrick, about 8:30 p.m. when his feet apparently became tangled in weeds and he went under.

There was no lifeguard on duty at the time.

GOING BLACK

Johnson, who told Brown on route to hospital he remembered only the water closing over his head and everything going black, nearly pulled under his two friends who were trying to save him.

Wylie said he was wearing swim fins and reached the raft.

ONE PIN LOST

He looked back, saw Miles caught in the weeds and dived in, losing one of his fins.

"I tried to get to him but it was not much good. I began dragging me under. I stayed beside him then went back to the raft to get organized," said Wylie.

LOOKED UP

"He just about drowned Karl and me at the same time," said Gelsthorpe. "I tried to get close to Miles but he began pulling me under. 'I went to get the boat but it was locked up and the life guard wasn't there.'"

ROWED OVER

Gelsthorpe said he called to some boys in another boat and they rowed over.

In the meantime, two persons identified as Doug Swan of North Vancouver and Lynn Booth of Glen Lake swam from the raft and kept Johnson's head above water until the boat pulled alongside.

CLUNG TO STEER

Johnson clung to the stern as the unidentified boys rowed to shore.

Someone telephoned Saanich fire department from a pay telephone outside the Beaver Lake concession stand.

Crews Move Fast Douse New Fires

Fast-moving suppression crews kept the Langford-Roske forest areas clear of new fires yesterday.

Several small blazes reported during the day were quickly doused by the crews. Forestry officials reported the area quiet for the first time in more than a week.

Only two fires are currently being patrolled in the district. Conditions in the two areas remain critical with continued warm weather.

Driver Lectured For Cigaret Flip In Sooke Woods

An RCMP crackdown on careless smokers in forest areas resulted in a $50 fine for a Victoria man in Sooke court yesterday.

James Norman Galbraith, 3080 Cedar Hill Road, was given a stern lecture by Magistrate Eugene Murphy on the dangers of flipping lighted cigarettes from moving cars.

NON-SMOKER

Mr. Galbraith told the court he didn't smoke. He admitted dumping two cigarette butts belonging to passengers while motoring through under East Sooke hills Saturday night.

Two RCMP officers in a car behind the Galbraith car saw the burning butts are to the side of the road. The officers stopped and extinguished the cigarettes.

Mr. Galbraith was stopped and charged under the Forestry Act for disposing of burning material before properly extinguishing it. Penalties range from fines of $25 to $500.

"I wouldn't hesitate in imposing a $300 fine for anyone who shows such criminal disregard for the people living in this area," said Magistrate Murphy.

PEOPLE AFRAID

"The people are almost afraid to go to bed at night because of the dangerous conditions."

Forestry information officer William Roth testified that 12 per cent of last year's 237 fires in B.C. were due to careless smokers. He said 15 fires in the Langford district this year were caused by cigarette butts.

WATCHING FIRE

RCMP Cpl. P. A. Eastman said the Galbraith car was spotted parked on the side of the road. The occupants were watching a forest fire less than 100 yards away.

He said when the car pulled away, two lighted cigarettes were flipped out.

COST MORE

"You were aware the police car was behind you. This almost seemed to flaunt the regulations," said the magistrate. "You're lucky you're not a smoker... this would have cost you more."

Smoke Bylaw Ready

Copies of Victoria's new air pollution bylaw will be distributed to operators of industrial plants in the city this week.

Some 100 copies of the bylaw have been printed and many will be distributed in person by city smoke inspector Thomas Walker, who will explain provisions of the bylaw.

Distribution of the copies of the bylaw is the first step in a "get tough" policy, a city hall spokesman said last night. "These copies will go out as fast as they can be distributed," he promised.

New Kiwanis Villa Open in September

Kiwanians have set early September as official opening date for Kiwanis Villa, the latest addition to Kiwanis Village.

Work is nearing completion on the $233,000 project which started last November. It will accommodate 50 senior citizens.

and with a further addition will eventually take care of 74. Applications for tenancy should be made to Glenn Hope, villa manager.

Kiwanis Village already comprises 31 cottages. When the full nine-acre site is developed, value of the buildings will be $1,250,000.

Guide Shuns Archives Tourists Left to Roam

THE COLD WAR: An apparent clash of personalities has led to a bitter little feud down at the legislative buildings.

The guide who conducts parties of tourists around the buildings has gone on a partial strike, refusing to set foot in the provincial library and archives — the main highlight of the tour.

Instead he turns the tourists loose in the corridors and won't explain why, leaving them to enter the library and archives at their own risk.

This is considerable. Some visitors wandering about by themselves have been publicly bewled out for making noise while some rope barricades have been erected in an apparent attempt to prevent deeper penetration into the library.

Both the public's boss, deputy public works minister Arnold Webb, and provincial archivist Wilford Ireland, are away on holidays. Until they return this odd situation will continue.

And while it does, about 1,500 tourists and visitors each week are being denied the opportunity of having a guided length in cabinet and the decision was to have a whoop-de-do session to coincide with the ninth anniversary of Social Credit taking over as the government.

The plans were made and the date announced by the premier at a press conference.

It wasn't until some hours later that it was brought forcibly home to the government that the date coincided with the founding convention of the New Party in Ottawa.

Rather than back down Premier Bennett decided to bull it through—despite the political implications.

INSTANT ITEM: The person who has done most to arouse the working class is the inventor of the alarm clock.

DOUBLE TROUBLE: Old timers at the legislative buildings nearly popped their eye balls out yesterday when they thought they saw former B.C. premier John Hart in the corridors.

The late Premier Hart died in 1957.

The man with the striking resemblance was the former premier's nephew, Dan McReady of San Francisco, visiting here to look up the history of HMCS Rainbow in which he served as a signman at the outbreak of the 1914-15 war.

Balmain Strikes At Rich

By PEGGY MASEN

PARIS (Reuters) — Pierre Balmain offered fashions for the millionaire's wife in his collection opening the second day of Paris winter fashion show.

Balmain's theme must be born to the rich, the noble and the rich. They run through out his winter collection and the theme announced that the designs were only for the rich — and not for the nouveau riche's either.

"High fashion" travel, in a large and white tamed swag coat finished with shawl collar and barrel cuffs of sheer white fox.

The gown shopping in the morning wearing a pale pink luxuriously collared and lined with Hudson seal, nutria or leopard.

She wears shimmering one-piece turtleneck of silk, matched with long straight skirt of giant muffs.

CHATTER SEE WEARS

She wears a white ermine middy blouse at cocktail time, or combines different fur such as sable and broadtail in the same evening coat, and dines in a kimono coat made of fragile black lace entirely lined with white ermine.

Balmain's "take" silhouette was tall and slender with a long waisted blouse top and gently flared skirt.

The theme was less cutting, and evolved from morning to night from bright tamed checked to shimmering metallic brocade fabrics.

Balmain mounted sleeves in a new triangular setting and skillfully evolved colors from the bloused back effect.

Most effective holiday costume were the theatre suits of satin or velvet, with sleeveless over-the-shoulder of solid gold embroidery.

Mrs. Brian Fildes with her son, Paul, 10, arrived recently from Sale, Cheshire, England, to spend six weeks visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Beasley, 2774 Murray Drive. While here they have also visited with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Harkness, Murray Drive, and Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Smith, Foul Bay Road. During this, their first visit to Canada, they were taken by Mr. and Mrs. Beasley to the Calgary Stampede and shown beauty spots of the Island. Mrs. Fildes and Paul will leave July 19 and will go by jet over the Pole back to England. — (Ryan Bros. photo.)

Scottish Piper Greet Couple at the Church

When Miss Nancy May Rainey and her groom, Mr. Frederick Grant Sheldrake arrived at the Church of Our Lord for their marriage recently, they were greeted with the piping of David Ross.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rainey, 2110 Richmond Avenue, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Sheldrake, 1150 View Street.

Bishop D. Rankin officiated at the evening ceremony.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white organza over tulle with a lace bodice and a long train. Her chapel length veil misted in three tiers from a white tiara of rhinestones and pearls. She carried pink roses and white carnations.

The bride's sister, Miss Pat Rainey, was maid of honor and bridesmaid was Miss Andrea Reid, both in white floral tulle dresses with over-the-shoulder of turquoise organza. They carried cascades of white gladioli and turquoise ribbon.

Flower girl, Linda Murray, wore a pink organza dress with white lace trim and matching hat. She carried white gladioli.

The groom had Mr. Chris

Pauline Archer Bride Of Robert MacDonald

At a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. T. G. Griffiths in St. John's United Church recently, Pauline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Archer, became the bride of Mr. Robert Ian MacDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. MacDonald, Toronto.

The bride, who walked to the altar with her father, was lovely in her half-length gown of pale pink silk, organza with French lace bodice and cap sleeves.

A crown of red pearls held her show-length veil and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and stephanotis. A pearl drop earring was her only jewelry.

Miss Kathleen Archer was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a short dress of pink Swiss cotton and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and carnations.

Chloë Stevenson, niece of the bride, also wore a pink Swiss cotton frock and carried a basket of rose petals and marguerites.

Mr. Robert MacDonald was best man for his brother and Mr. Lyman Ford and Mr. William MacDonald, groomsmen.

At the garden reception held at the Old England Inn, Mr. Dick Lawrence proposed the bridal toast.

After a honeymoon at Oahu Island the young couple are now residing in North Vancouver. The bride's travelling costume was a pink silk shantung dress with matching jacket, pink shawl hat and accessories.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I've read every imaginable kind of problem in your column, but not this. We are very friendly with a certain couple, and because of the nature of our business, we eat out together at least once a week. They always bring their teen-ager along—so there are three of them and two of us.

This son of theirs is a sort of "smart aleck" punk, which, naturally, they don't see. He only goes for steak—and of course only the most expensive cut will do. They laughingly say "Graville has high-class taste" and then let it go at that. When he orders strawberries out of season (is in fact) I'd like to wring his high grade neck.

We have always split the check in half, but frankly I am getting pretty tired of paying 50% of this 14-year-old gourmet's fancy taste. Is there any way out? — CANT AFFORD IT.

Dear Ann Landers: The next time you dine together do this. Both you and your wife order indignantly expensive dinner. Start with avocado and crabmeat. Go hog wild. Rack Cornish hen is nice. Try the artichoke salad. Rack Alaska for dessert is lovely. Then say, "Look, it's not fair for you to pay for half of this. From now on we're going to have separate checks."

Dear Ann Landers: Several weeks ago I met a Marine on a double date. He was with another girl and I was with another fellow. He is 19 years old and very smooth.

The Marine has telephoned me four times (long distance) to ask for a date since he is stationed in a nearby city. He thinks he'll be shipping out in a few weeks and he is eager to get to know me better. My mother says I can't go out with a fellow I know nothing about, but she is willing to have him over to dinner and have us spend the first evening at home. I am 18 and have dated several fellows. I think my mother is being unfair. A girl of 19 should be able to take care of herself on a first date, without supervision. The fellow will not agree to an evening at home. What is your opinion?

—NOT SURE.

Dear Ann Landers: If the fellow was on the square, he would be happy to accept the dinner invitation and spend the evening at your home. The fact that he is not interested in such an evening suggests (and strongly) that your mother is right.

Does the throne ask too much of Queen Elizabeth

She has travelled more than any other monarch in history — yet every tour has been political rather than simply pleasurable. She entertains about 25,000 people yearly — yet can allot her family only a few hours of every business day. Are her weekends at Balmoral Castle enough time to be a wife and mother? How does the Queen relax?

—MARGE.

Dear Marge: Plain, ordinary good sense ought to tell you that a ring placed over a glove makes no sense. A ring which fits your finger would never go on over your glove. And a bride should not be wearing a strapless gown. The traditional bridal gown has long sleeves (summer and winter), and usually the bride is unveiled. If she wishes to wear long gloves, she should select those with three or more buttons at the wrist so she can conveniently slip off her hand and avoid peeling off 18 inches of glove.

—Ann Landers.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the newspaper. All names and addresses will be kept confidential.

Vancouver Addicts Steal $10,000,000

Goods worth $10,000,000 are stolen yearly in Vancouver to meet the narcotic needs of the city's drug addicts—and the Narcotic Addiction Foundation of B.C. is making a pioneer effort to meet the problem.

The staggering figure was given to the Victoria Kiwanis Club yesterday by Dr. Robert Halliday, medical director of the foundation.

"There are," he told his audience, "from 1,500 to 2,000 addicts in the city of Vancouver."

This compares with from 350 to 400 in the United Kingdom, and about 60,000 in the United States. It is a high proportion of the 5,000 to 6,000 in all of Canada.

Dr. Halliday explained the $10,000,000 cost figure:

MUST STEAL

The average Vancouver addict, he said, uses three capsules of heroin daily. They cost $5 each. The addict is not working, so he must steal to feed his (or her) habit. To realize the vital $15, he must steal goods worth at least $50.

LEADERSHIP GIVEN

"Cost-wise, then," he said, "we can afford to spend a great deal to meet the narcotics problem. B.C. has given some leadership, and we hope to get additional sponsorship in our efforts."

CAN BE TREATED

Dr. Halliday believes most of the addicts can be treated successfully, but says a long period of supervised rehabilitation is vital.

Sand Models On Display

Two finalists in the annual city playgrounds sand box modeling contest will be on view on the third floor of Eaton's department store from this afternoon. Voting by the general public will decide whether Beacon Hill Park's entry depicting Gulf Islands or Hollywood Park's Inner Harbor scene is ultimate winner, to be named at 5 p.m. Saturday.

Douglas Plan To Be Aired Next Week

The Capital Improvement District Commission will meet Aug. 3 to consider further its plan to beautify the Douglas Street approach to Victoria, from the Trans-Canada Highway to Fountain Circle.

The CIDC has offered to beautify existing boulevards along Douglas Street with the condition that parking be banned along the curb, beginning about June, 1962.

Search council accepted the offer without reservations, but city council—in accepting the offer—pointed out it could not promise parking will be banned next year.

Island Firefighters Compete on Sunday

Firefighters from all parts of Vancouver Island will take part in an annual tournament at Colwood Plaza Sunday.

Two hundred firemen from about 40 different fire departments belonging to the Vancouver Island Firefighters' Association will take part in the competitions from 10:15 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m.

PROVIDE MEANS

Host club, Colwood volunteer fire department, cannot take part in the competition but will provide the firefighting equipment used by the others.

Public can watch both the morning and afternoon sessions free of charge. High-light will be a water ball competition in the afternoon, in which opposing teams will try to move a ball by fire hoses across the opposite team's line.

COLLEGE TOUR

Colwood Fire Chief Richard Emery is president of the Island firemen's group.

Visiting firemen's wives and children will be taken on a tour of Royal Roads Canadian Services College during the afternoon. A banquet for the visitors will be held at Colwood Community Hall at 5 p.m.

'End of Empire Created Confusion in the World'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rev. William Hills, Victoria's jocular rural dean, told a convention of the American Newspaper Guild Tuesday that dissolution of the British Empire was one of four factors contributing to today's world confusion.

Figuratively turning his pastoral collar back to front,

Mr. Hills said he was speaking to the 300 delegates and their wives as a man, not "a religious bloke."

He told a predominantly U.S. audience the second factor was the projection of their country into the heart of international troubles and world affairs.

The third and fourth factors, Mr. Hills listed were the use of atomic power as an instrument of hostility and the threat of Russian imperialism. The bachelor pastor laid the dissolution of the British Empire "created a power vacuum in all parts of the world."

He said also the world's complexion had changed with the direction of atomic power against humanity.

"We passed over a divide," he said, "into a world of anxiety, from which has come misery, sorrow, unrest and rebellion."

Film Show Draws 500

A crowd of more than 500 attended last night's showing of three international prize-winning documentary films at the band shell in Beacon Hill Park.

The summer film festival, sponsored by the National Film Board, continues at 8 p.m. tonight with four more award winners.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yours! It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly most disappear—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Adv.

Woman, Child Hurlled Through Truck Door

A woman and her two-year-old grandson were hurled to the ground when the door of the truck in which they were passengers flew open while making a turn near Milne's Landing yesterday.

Rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital by Sookse ambulance Mrs. Francis Cawsey was in good condition last night. She suffered a fractured shoulder in the fall.

Molester Driven Off

Screams of a terrified woman drove off her assailant when she was accosted on Vancouver Street while walking alone late last night.

Donna Barker, 1327 Walnut, told police a man had tried to put his arm around her but fled when she screamed.

Columbia So Big Bennett Scared?

VANCOUVER (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton suggested yesterday that the size and scope of the Columbia River power development project may be so large that it has frightened Premier Bennett of British Columbia. (See story Page 5.)

"I wonder if this whole project isn't so big that Mr. Bennett is becoming afraid of it and trying to run away from it," he said.

McKinley's South Face Conquered by Italians

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A six-man Italian team was reported Tuesday to have conquered 20,320-foot Mt. McKinley up the previously unclimbed sheer south face of North America's loftiest peak.

The feat was immediately hailed by Bradford Washburn, director of the Boston Museum of Science and a renowned authority on Mt. McKinley, as "the greatest achievement in American mountaineering history."

FLOWN DOWN

A member of the expedition, Gian Canali, told of the conquest when he was flown here Monday night for treatment of severely frostbitten feet. Canali said the party, led by Riccardo Canali of the Linceo Chapter of the Italian Alpine Club, fought its way to the summit at 11 a.m. July 15. He said several other members of the team were also suffering from frostbite.

GOING BACK

Canali was brought to Anchorage by bush pilot Don Sheldon of Talkeetna, who planned to return immediately to the mountain to evacuate the other climbers.

Although unable to walk, Canali was in high spirits. Sheldon said the others "had decided Canali down the mountain on a sled of ice at about the 18,000-foot level."

BAREFOOT PILOT

The daring pilot, who figured prominently in the dramatic rescue of four injured climbers marooned on McKinley last year, landed his plane on the ice field to bring out the stricken mountaineers.

New Party Triumvirate Calls Separate Rallies

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor, New Party clubs and the CCF will meet separately this weekend to set the stage for next week's founding convention of the New Party.

The three groups represent the basic triumvirate behind formation of the new left wing party.

TO CONSIDER DETAILS
The 21-member executive council of the Canadian Labor Congress convenes Friday and Saturday.

The council, inner cabinet

of the 1,500,000-member central labor organization, will deal with some internal issues facing the labor movement as well as consider details of the CLC role at the New Party convention.

MEETS SUNDAY

The 60-member national council of the CCF, headed by CCF president David Lewis of Toronto, is to meet Sunday night, chiefly to wind up legal details involving the transfer of federal CCF authority and finances to the New Party.

About 200 delegates from

New Party clubs across Canada are to gather Sunday night at a downtown hotel to set up a formal national organization.

KEY ROLE

Headed by Stanley Knowles, a CLC executive vice-president, the national New Party committee will rely on last-minute items before the convention gets under way Monday.

All three groups have a key role to play at the convention itself—and their chief spokesmen are to set the convention theme in keynote speeches on the first two days.

OPENING SPEECH

Mr. Knowles, a former CCF member of Parliament, is to give the opening speech Monday. He will be followed by Mr. Lewis, a Toronto labor lawyer.

On Tuesday, Leo McInnes, chairman of the national council of New Party clubs, is to make the third keynote address.

definite forecasts longer in advance would yield double the benefits or greater," he said.

Reichelderfer told the House Science and Space committee the weather satellites and other forecasting advances had cut the storm toll in coastal areas to one-fifth of the death toll 20 years ago.

He gave this report on Tires III, sent into orbit July 12 to keep a camera eye out for new-born hurricanes.

"Already it has discovered and fixed the locations of three tropical disturbances, two of them hurricanes, more accurately and pictured their configurations and movements more clearly than could be done by any other available means."

U.S. PREPARES FOR WORST LEAVES BERLIN DOOR OPEN

Television viewers watching President Kennedy last night saw only the president at his White House desk, but he had lots of company. Kennedy Boosts Army

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Kennedy Tuesday night moved to strengthen the United States' military arsenal while calling on Soviet Premier Khrushchev to settle the Berlin crisis peacefully at the conference table.

The freedom of Berlin is not negotiable, Kennedy told a radio and television audience, "but we are willing to consider any arrangements or treaty in Germany consistent with the maintenance of peace and freedom and with the legitimate security interests of all nations."

PLAN FINIBLE

Kennedy maintained an arrangement could be worked out to ensure Russia against any possible attack from the West in central Europe and make it possible for both security and freedom to exist in this troubled area.

NO CHANCES TAKEN

Meanwhile, he was taking no chances. He would ask Congress today for authority to spend another $1,247,000,000 for defense — half for additional manpower and the other half for conventional arms.

This would boost the active army by about 125,000 men to a total of 1,000,000. The total manpower increase of all services would be 217,000.

GREATER DRIVE UNITED

The Western Allies also had to boost their strength, Kennedy said. The European situation demanded fulfillment of the NATO target of 30 divisions. It now has about 20.

"We will put even greater resources into fulfilling those goals and look to our Allies to do the same."

U.S. WILL FIGHT

Kennedy hammered home time and again a notice that the U.S. would fight if necessary in defence of Berlin and the cause of freedom.

SHIPS HELD BACK

"We do not want to fight — but we have fought before," Kennedy said. "We cannot and will not permit the Communists to drive us out of Berlin, either gradually or by force."

Kennedy said he proposed to hold in service many ships and planes once tagged for retirement. And he said he intends to use about half the extra money he wants to buy nuclear weapons, ammunition and equipment.

WILLING TO TALK

Pointing up the willingness to negotiate, Kennedy said that "while we are ready to defend our interests, we shall also be ready to search for peace — in formal or informal meetings."

CHALLENGE TO ALL

Kennedy called on the Western Allies to assume their share of the risks and burdens because the challenge is one "to every nation which has asserted its sovereignty in the name of liberty." It especially challenged the Atlantic community — "the heartland of human freedom."

What he expects in the way of definite action from Allied powers was not spelled out.

AT ALL COSTS

The president said he hoped an increased flow of money to government coffers because of an improved business outlook would cover the increased spending he proposed. However, he declared his intention to carry out the needed steps to meet the situation at all costs.

He also proposed increasing spending to set up facilities for civil defense.

Drought Operation Hastens Relief To Prairie Farms

By The Canadian Press

A big emergency operation to provide food and water for livestock was underway Tuesday in the drought-stricken central Prairies while farmers in the extreme west delayed calling for aid under the government-organized plan, hoping recent rains would revive hay crops.

EQUIPMENT MOVED

Caravans of feed were being moved into some drought areas. Cattle were being moved to greener pastures from others.

Giant pumps were replenishing farm dugouts. Trucks and rail cars moved hay and equipment to salvage stunted crops for feed.

ALBERTA SPLANNED

Most of Alberta was splashed by a rain system that moved in from the northwest Sunday and spread across the province by early Monday. Agriculture officials said the rain could take some of the urgency out of a feed shortage in southern Alberta.

RAIN HELPED

R. M. Putnam, deputy agriculture minister, said Tuesday no applications had been received from farmers for assistance under the dominion provincial fodder and cattle movement schemes announced in early July by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Mr. Putnam said the rain would help farmers in the province "immeasurably."

FARMERS WAIT

Provincial field crops commission A. M. Wilson said the moisture would bring along second growth on grasslands and feed grain fields. Farmers in the drought-stricken south likely would avoid buying fodder from outside until they see how the second growth develops, he said.

AID IN EFFECT

Saskatchewan farmers have not hesitated to apply for aid under the government program. Agriculture Minister I. C. Nallet said all government measures were in effect and being used by farmers fighting the effects of a prolonged drought.

least 15 units in the all-white legislature. But this measure is considered by Negro nationalist leaders to be only a small concession to their demands for full representation under the slogan "one man one vote."

During the weekend, Negro nationalists held their own unofficial referendum on the constitution.

Preliminary returns Tuesday showed that more than 152,000 persons voted against the constitution while 235 supported it.

New Dag Bid Could Stymie Reds

By MAX HARBELSON

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Dag Hammarskjöld's role in the Tunisian crisis could turn out to be a powerful answer to the Soviet campaign to replace the United Nations secretary-general with a three-man directorate. (See Page 1.)

both he and the office of secretary-general will get a big boost in prestige. In any event his activities are bound to have an impact on this fall's General Assembly debate on the proposed structural changes.

Developments during the last week have demonstrated that the secretary-general is a potential peace-making arm of the United Nations which can supplement the work of the Security Council and the Assembly.

Last Saturday when the council appeared headed toward a deadlock on two controversial resolutions, Hammarskjöld entered boldly into the picture with a compromise proposal for an interim cease-fire while debate continued. His proposal won immediate support—including that of the Soviet Union.

Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba invited the secretary-general Sunday to fly to Tunis to help restore peace. Hammarskjöld accepted without hesitation.

Better Water System Before Voters Soon

PORT ALBERNI — Owners of the water system, after a $500,000 money bylaw for a new water system, will be put to a vote by voters in the city of Alberni on Monday.

Alb. Dalton, chairman of the water committee, said the plans are designed to provide sufficient water for a population of 30,000. Although the project is estimated to cost $500,000, expected savings through past and future water works programs will amount to approximately $200,000, cutting the amount which must be raised by borrowing.

Alb. Dalton said tests are being carried out at Buntar Lake to determine if chlorination will be required. In any event, he said, chlorination will be added to the city's system only on the occasion of peak demands.

PORT ALBERNI — Fear that a spark from the Tahara mill burner might start a fire during high hazard conditions was expressed at the council meeting in a letter from a resident of Kingsway South, C. Walker, who objected to operation of the burner during dry, hot weather.

He also suggested a path from the end of Mar Street be closed while the high fire hazard is in effect. The path traverses a brush-covered hillside between Kingsway and the railway tracks below.

The letter went to the fire committee for investigation.

No Byelection Says Jordon

PORT ALBERNI — There will be no by-election to fill the vacancy left by the death this month of Ald. Douglas Malloy. At a council meeting this week, Mayor Loren Jordon announced the decision to carry on short-handed with city business.

According to provisions of the Municipal Act, it is not necessary to hold a by-election if a vacancy occurs after July 1.

First Theft in History Baffles Hornby Island

HORNBY ISLAND — Thieves took $700 in cash and merchandise from the co-operative store overnight Tuesday in the first robbery in the history of this remote island.

Manager Ted Wadman discovered the theft yesterday on opening the store for the day's business. Missing are $500 in cash, firearms and ammunition, fishing gear, jewelry and cigars.

RCMP from Nanaimo checked fingerprints at the scene.

Cumberland police, in charge of the case, said the thieves may have used a boat for their escape by way of Tribune Bay. The store was entered by forcing a lock on a side door, barricade.

NANAIMO — Vancouver Island Exhibition Association has received permission of city council to hold a parade in connection with the annual exhibition Aug. 12, under the direction of the police and the city engineer's department.

Procession will move from Victoria Road by the present fire hall, down Victoria Crescent, along Commercial Street to Front and then to Comm. Road where the floats will continue out to Exhibition Park. The hour-long parade is scheduled to start at 12:30 p.m. and the floats will take part in a pageant of the park the same evening.

The association also asked the city to help defray costs of a float for Miss Nanaimo 1961. The float would cost $100 to $200 and would also be used in the PNE parade.

NANAIMO — RCMP have received the backing of city council in erecting some new "stop" signs and "yield right-of-way" signs at the south end of the city.

Stop signs will be erected on the following cross streets: Victoria, Roberts, Selby, Finlayson, Pringle, Parquhar on both sides. Walkins and the west side of Newham.

Several accidents in the area in recent months brought about the recommendation of the police for such action.

NANAIMO — What could have been a serious forest fire was extinguished Monday night by a provincial forestry crew southwest of Nanaimo. An abandoned house, about 1/2 of a mile from the junction of Extension Road and Nanaimo Lakes Road, caught fire about 11 p.m.

When the forestry crew and RCMP arrived the fire had spread to about an acre of brush. A pump truck was rushed into service and the blaze quelled.

There was no estimate of damage since the building was old and abandoned.

NANAIMO — A warning flare turned into a small damaging fire early yesterday in the Woodlands district.

Fire department was called to answer an alarm at the intersection of Waddington Road and Strathmore Street after a small flare pot, that was placed to warn motorists of a deep ditch, tipped over and the flames spread to a barricade. Only damage was loss of the flare pot and a side door, barricade.

Election Staff Ready to Go

Preparations for the next general election are proceeding apace in Victoria federal riding.

Returning officer Edmund de St. Jorre yesterday confirmed he had asked the winning candidate and runner-up to nominate two enumerators for each of the 288 polling divisions.

He described the move, however, as "purely of a mechanical nature... not at all inspired by actual politics or made on the authority of the government."

As long ago as last November, said Mr. de St. Jorre, the chief electoral officer for Canada instructed all returning officers to do whatever preliminary work was necessary without waiting for an announcement or an election.

In the process, polling divisions in the federal riding of Victoria have been completely overhauled and the number has been increased from 174 to 288 to take care of population growth in specific areas.

GREATEST GROWTH — Mr. de St. Jorre said the greatest growth has been shown in parts of Oak Bay north of Lansdowne, Esquimalt and the Saanich peninsula.

Mr. S. E. Penny, returning officer for Esquimalt-Saanich, said there is already a full list of enumerators in his riding from the by-election held two months ago.

He added: "We are all ready to go anytime an election is called."

CCF Here For Argue

Victoria Federal CCF Association, at a meeting this week decided to support CCF leader James Aikman for leadership of the New Party. The group is sending a three-member delegation to the founding convention in Ottawa at the end of this month. Delegates are Neil Blodde and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson.

Beaver Lake

Swimmers Avert Triple Drowning

A Saanich man nearly drowned last night while trying to swim with two friends to a raft near the shore at Beaver Lake. He was rescued by the other swimmers.

Mike Johnson, 24, of 1275 Pearce Crescent, is in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph's Hospital where he was being kept overnight for observation.

WED TANGLE — He was swimming towards the raft with Karl Wyke, 278 Crease Avenue, and Tony Gelshorpe, 1238 St. Patrick, about 8:30 p.m. when his foot apparently became tangled in weeds and he went under.

There was no lifeguard on duty at the time.

GOING BLAZE — Johnson, who told firemen on route to hospital he remembered only the water closing over his head and everything going black, nearly pulled under his two friends who were trying to save him.

Wyke said he was wearing swim fins and reached the raft.

ONE PIN LOST — He looked back, saw Mike caught in the weeds and dived in, losing one of his fins.

"I tried to get to him but it was not much good. He began dragging me under. I stayed beside him then went back to the raft to get organized," said Wyke.

LOOKED UP — "He just about drowned Karl and me at the same time," said Gelshorpe. "I tried to get close to Mike but he began pulling me under."

"I went to get the boat but it was locked up and the lifeguard wasn't there."

BOVED OVER — Gelshorpe said he called to some boys in another boat and they rowed over.

In the meantime, two persons identified as Doug Swain of North Vancouver and Lynn Booth of Glen Lake swam from the raft and kept Johnson's head above water until the boat pulled alongside.

CLING TO STEIN — Johnson clung to the stern as the unidentified boys rowed to shore.

Someone telephoned Saanich fire department from a pay telephone outside the Beaver Lake concession stand.

Crews Move Fast Douse New Fires

Fast-moving suppression crews kept the Langford-Sooke forest areas clear of new fires yesterday.

Several small blazes reported during the day were quickly doused by the crews. Forestry officials reported the area quiet for the first time in more than a week.

Only two fires are currently being patrolled in the district. Conditions in the two areas remain critical with continued warm weather.

Driver Lectured For Cigaret Flip In Sooke Woods

An RCMP crackdown on careless smokers in forest areas resulted in a $30 fine for a Victoria man in Sooke court yesterday.

James Norman Galbraith, 3830 Cedar Hill Road, was given a stern lecture by Magistrate Eugene Murphy on the dangers of flipping lit cigarettes from moving cars.

NONCHALANT — Mr. Galbraith told the court he didn't smoke. He admitted dumping two cigarette butts belonging to passengers while motoring through timbered East Sooke hills Saturday night.

Two RCMP officers in a car behind the Galbraith car saw the burning butts are in the side of the road. The officers stopped and extinguished the cigarettes.

Mr. Galbraith was stopped and charged under the Forestry Act for dumping of burning material before properly extinguishing it. Penalties range from fines of $25 to $200.

"I wouldn't hesitate in imposing a $200 fine for anyone who shows such criminal disregard for the people living in this area," said Magistrate Murphy.

PEOPLE AFRAID — "The people are almost afraid to go to bed at night because of the dangerous conditions."

Forestry information officer William Keith testified that 12 per cent of last year's 257 fires in B.C. were due to careless smokers. He said 15 fires in the Langford district this year were caused by cigarette butts.

WATCHING FIRE — RCMP Cpl. P. A. Eastman said the Galbraith car was spotted parked on the side of the road. The occupants were watching a forest fire less than 100 yards away.

He said when the car pulled away, two lit cigarettes were slipped out.

COAT MORE — "You were aware the police car was behind you. This almost seemed to flout the regulations," said the magistrate. "You're lucky you're not a smoker — this would have cost you more."

New Kiwanis Villa Open in September

Kiwanians have set early and with a further addition will eventually take care of 74. Applications for tenancy should be made to Glenn Hope, villa manager.

Kiwanis Village already comprises 50 cottages. When the full nine-acre site is developed, value of the buildings will be $1,250,000.

Work is nearing completion on the $233,000 project which started last November. It will accommodate 50 senior citizens.

September as official opening date for Kiwanis Villa, the latest addition to Kiwanis Village.

Work is nearing completion on the $233,000 project which started last November. It will accommodate 50 senior citizens.

THE OLD WAR — An apparent clash of personalities has led to a bitter little feud down at the legislative buildings.

The guide who conducts parties of tourists around the buildings has gone on a partial strike, refusing to set foot in the provincial library and archives — the main highlight of the tour.

Instead he turns the tourists loose in the corridors and won't explain why, leaving them to explore the library and archives at their own risk.

This is considerable. Some visitors wandering about by themselves have been publicly berated for making what was considered too much noise while some rope barriers have been erected in an apparent attempt to prevent deeper penetration into the library.

But the guide's boss, Deputy public works minister Arnold Webb, and provincial archivist William Ireland, are away on holidays. Until they return this odd situation will continue.

And while it does, about 1,500 tourists and visitors each week are being denied the opportunity of having a guided tour of the archives and library.

SURPRISE PACKAGE — From up on high comes this "inside" word on why Premier Bennett chose Aug. 1 for the date of the opening of the special session of the B.C. legislature.

It seems it was discussed at length in cabinet and the decision was to have a whoopee session to coincide with the ninth anniversary of Social Credit, taking over as the government.

The plans were made and the date announced by the premier at a press conference.

It wasn't until some hours later that it was brought forcibly home to the government that the date coincided with the founding convention of the New Party in Ottawa.

Rather than back down Premier Bennett decided to bull it through — despite the political implications.

balls out yesterday when they thought they saw former B.C. premier John Hart in the corridors.

The late Premier Hart died in 1957.

The man with the striking resemblance was the former premier's nephew, Dan McStrady of San Francisco, visiting here to look up the history of HMCS Rainbow in which he served as a signaller at the outbreak of the 1914-18 war.

Alberni Issues

Aldermen Overcome Mayor's Objections

ALBERNI — Four resolutions, returned by Mayor Mabel Anderson for reconsideration, were reaffirmed by Alberni council at a special meeting this week.

The four resolutions presented their ground on action taken last week to ask the assessment commission for a re-assessment of the city as required by a 1961 amendment to the Equalization of Assessment Act; to introduce the pound rate bylaw; to adopt a select committee report recommending a tentative date for a sewer system bylaw and a date for a public meeting to discuss plans for a sewer system; and, finally, to adopt minutes of the July 10 meeting.

BRIEFING

The mayor objected to the first resolution on the grounds the assessment act amendment had not been brought before council formally before the motion was introduced. She asked for a reading of the amendment by the city clerk. She failed in an attempt to have previous reports of the committee studying the dog pound matter read before council reaffirmed the motion. Introducing the bylaw. It would clear the way for operation jointly with Port Alberni of a dog pound on a site outside city limits.

Contentious Post Office May Become Station

ALBERNI — Alberni's post office, a bone of contention in the postal delivery issue here for many years, may be retained as a postal station.

H. C. McQuillan, M.P., suggested to Alberni council Monday that, if formally requested by council to do so, he would take the matter up with the postmaster-general's department. He indicated he felt favorably certain of success.

Post office officials have stated in the past that, if the city is to receive letter carrier

Hospital Shut For Month

KYUQUOT — The Red Cross Outpost hospital here will be closed for the next month. Miss Sofia Smith, nurse here since 1952, has left to take a job at Nanaimo in the Queen Charlotte Islands. A new nurse will be appointed toward the end of August.

20 Brits Collected, Vancouver, Wednesday, July 26, 1961

COURTENAY — City council was stunned this week by bids of up to $100,000 higher than engineers' estimates on construction of a sewage disposal lagoon.

Only two tenders were received for building the 17-acre artificial pond, council originally hoped would cost less than the budgeted $87,000.

Wakeman and Trimble bid $134,300 and Commonwealth Construction $154,527.

ALGAE ACTION

The lagoon will be the disposal field for the $700,000 sewer system begun earlier this year by Commonwealth Construction as the successful bidder on laying of the main trunk and laterals. Grading and diking of tidal flats south of the city will create the shallow pond for disposal of sewage by algae action.

OVER BARREL?

Ald. Myrtle Vickberg said she was afraid contractors thought they had the city over a barrel on the lagoon now that the main part of the sewer system already was under construction.

Mayor W. C. Moore said the consulting engineers would have to come up with an answer or the benefits gained from winter works grants on the trunk lines would be lost.

ONLY ANSWER

Council felt the only answer would be issuing another tender call or having city crews construct the lagoon.

"This is a very poor showing," Ald. A. H. Strathan said in moving that the bids be referred to the city's consulting engineers for comment.

Port Alberni To Expand?

PORT ALBERNI — Two papers of Port Alberni will be asked to vote Aug. 16 on a plan to extend the boundaries of the city.

At Monday's meeting, council received a petition signed by 45 voters resident in the area south of South Street for the district to be included within the city limits.

Flames Die But Hazard Stays High

ALBERNI — Mopping up operations are being carried on at the two forest fires in this district while the forestry service hazard rating continues high and there appears to be no sign of immediate relief.

There are still 30 men employed at the site of the Arden Logging fire on Alberni Inlet, where fire guards are being built and a watch kept on surrounding areas.

The blaze which broke out at the weekend inside the Camp 1 area at the head of Beaver Creek had been confined within approximately 15 acres. Practically extinguished, the fire is being mopped up by a crew of five men.

Chemainus Centre Charged

CHEMAINUS — Chemainus Community Centre was charged in police court here yesterday with conducting a lottery.

The charges laid by RCMP, allege the centre unlawfully conducted a lottery to determine the winner of a boat during the recent Dominion Day celebrations.

Magistrate W. F. Bryant granted Hamilton Smith, vice-president of the community centre, an adjournment without plea until Aug. 1.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unwanted fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yours. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naramin. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naramin Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way confirmed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Help lose quickly bulky fat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Bennett Afraid Of Columbia?

VANCOUVER (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton suggested yesterday that the size and scope of the Columbia River power development project may be so large that it has frightened Premier Bennett of British Columbia. (See story Page 5.)

"I wonder if this whole project isn't so big that Mr. Bennett is becoming afraid of it and trying to run away from it," he said.

McKinley's South Face Conquered by Italians

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A six-man Italian team was reported Tuesday to have conquered 20,320-foot Mt. McKinley, the previously unclimbed sheer south face of North America's loftiest peak.

The feat was immediately hailed by Bradford Washburn, director of the Boston Museum of Science and a recognized authority on Mt. McKinley, as "the greatest achievement in American mountaineering history."

FLOWN DOWN

A member of the expedition, Gian Canali, told of the conquest when he was flown here Monday night for treatment of severely frost-bitten feet.

Canali said the party, led by Riccardo Canali of the Linceo chapter of the Italian Alpine Club, fought its way to the summit at 11 a.m. July 19. He said several other members of the team were also suffering from frostbite.

GOING BACK

Canali was brought to Anchorage by bush pilot Don Sheldon, of Talkeetna, who planned to return immediately to the mountain to evacuate the other climbers.

Although unable to walk, Canali was in high spirits. Sheldon said the others "had stalled" Canali down the mountain on a slab of ice at about the 16,000-foot level.

BARING PILOT

The daring pilot, who figured prominently in the dramatic rescue of four injured climbers, was named on McKinley last year, landed his plane on the ice field to bring out the stricken mountaineers.

New Party Triumvirate Calls Separate Rallies

OTTAWA (CP)—Label of the 1,000,000-member New Party (N.P.) and the CCF will meet separately this weekend to set the stage for next week's founding convention of the New Party.

The three groups represent the basic triumvirate behind formation of the new left wing party.

TO CHAIRMAN DETAILA
The 21-member executive council of the Canadian Labor Congress convenes Friday and Saturday.

The council, under chairman of the 1,000,000-member New Party, is to deal with some internal issues, facing the labor movement as well as consider details of the CCF and the New Party.

KEY BOLE

Headed by Stanley Knowles, a CCF executive vice-president, the national New Party committee will tidy up last-minute items before the convention gets under way Monday.

All three groups have a key role to play at the convention itself—and their chief spokesmen are to set the convention theme in keynote speeches on the first two days.

OPENING SPEECH

Mr. Knowles, a former CCF member of Parliament, is to give the opening speech Monday. He will be followed by Mr. Lewis, a Toronto labor lawyer.

On Tuesday, Leo McInnes, chairman of the national council of New Party clubs, is to make the third keynote address.

He gave this report on Times III, sent into orbit July 12 to keep a camera eye out for new-born hurricanes.

"Already it has discovered and fixed the locations of three tropical disturbances, two of them hurricanes, more accurately and pictured their configurations and movements more clearly than could be done by any other available means."

Tiros Satellites Save Many Lives, Billions

WASHINGTON (UPI)—F. W. Reichelderfer, the nation's top weatherman, told Congress yesterday that storm-spitting Tiros satellites already have saved many lives and a billion dollars yearly in property loss.

"It is reported that more definite forecasts longer in advance would yield double the benefits or greater," he said yesterday.

Reichelderfer told the House science and space committee the weather satellites and other forecasting advances had cut the storm toll in coastal areas to one-fifth of the death rate 20 years ago.

He gave this report on Times III, sent into orbit July 12 to keep a camera eye out for new-born hurricanes.

Doukhobors Pick Verigin

GRAND FORK, B.C. (CP)—John J. Verigin was officially declared spiritual leader of the Orthodox Doukhobors at a meeting here, it was announced Tuesday night.

FREEDOM OF BERLIN 'IS NOT NEGOTIABLE'

Kennedy Boosts Army

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Kennedy Tuesday night moved to strengthen the United States' military arsenal while calling on Soviet Premier Khrushchev to settle the Berlin crisis peacefully at the conference table.

The freedom of Berlin is not negotiable, Kennedy told a radio and television audience. "but we are willing to consider any arrangements or treaty in Germany consistent with the maintenance of peace and freedom and with the legitimate security interests of all nations."

PLAN POSSIBLE

Kennedy maintained an arrangement could be worked out to ensure Russia against any possible attack from the West in central Europe "and make it possible for both security and freedom to exist in this troubled area."

NO CHANCES TAKEN

Meanwhile, he was taking no chances. He would ask Congress today for authority to spend another $3,347,000,000 for defense — half for additional manpower and the other half for conventional arms.

This week, boost the active army by about 125,000 men to a total of 1,000,000. The total manpower increase of all services would be 217,000.

GREATLY DRIVE UNICE

The Western Allies also had to show their strength, Kennedy said. The European situation demanded fulfillment of the NATO target of 30 divisions. It now has about 28.

"We will put even greater resources into fulfilling these goals and look to our Allies to do the same."

Kennedy hammered home time and again a notice that the U.S. would fight if necessary in defense of Berlin and the cause of freedom.

SHIP HELD BACK

"We do not want to fight—but we have fought before," Kennedy said. "We cannot and will not permit the Communists to drive us out of Berlin, either gradually or by force."

Kennedy said he proposed to hold in service many ships and planes now tagged for retirement. And he said he intends to use about half the extra money he seeks to buy non-nuclear weapons, ammunition and equipment.

WILLING TO TALK

Pointing up the willingness to negotiate, Kennedy said that "while we are ready to defend our interests, we shall also be ready to search for peace—in quiet exploratory talks—in formal or informal meetings."

CHALLENGE TO ALL

Kennedy called on the Western Allies to assume their share of the risks and burdens because the challenge is one "to every nation which has asserted its sovereignty in the name of liberty." It especially challenged the Atlantic community — "the heartland of human freedom."

What he expects in the way of definite action from Allied powers was not spelled out.

AT ALL COSTS

The president said he hoped an increased flow of money to government coffers because of an improved business outlook would cover the increased spending he proposed. However, he declared his intention to carry out the needed steps to meet the situation at all costs.

He also proposed increasing spending to set up facilities for civil defense.

Correspondents Watch Kennedy

Television viewers watching President Kennedy last night saw only the president at his White House desk, but he had lots of company. Picked correspondents included Britain's Anthony Goodman of

Reuters, in centre against wall, and Russia's Vladimir Vashchenko of Tass. In centre of picture is Kennedy's Negro assistant press secretary, Andrew Hatcher, following script.—(AP Photofax.)

Drought Operation Hastens Relief To Prairie Farms

By The Canadian Press

A big emergency operation to provide feed and water for livestock was underway Tuesday on the drought-stricken central prairies while farmers in the extreme west delayed calling for aid under the government-organized plan, hoping recent rains would revive hay crops.

EQUIPMENT MOVED

Carloads of feed were being moved into some drought areas. Cattle were being moved to greener pastures from others. Giant pumps were replenishing farm dugouts. Trucks and rail cars moved haying equipment to salvage stunted crops for feed.

ALBERTA PLANNED

Most of Alberta was stricken by a rain system that moved in from the north west Sunday and spread across the province by early Monday. Agriculture officials said the rains would take some of the urgency out of a feed shortage in southern Alberta.

RAIN HELPED

R. M. Putnam, deputy agriculture minister, said Tuesday, no applications had been received from farmers for assistance under the dominion provincial fodder and cattle movement schemes announced in early July by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Mr. Putnam said the rain would help farmers in the province "immensely."

FARMERS WAIT

Provincial feed crops commission A. M. Wilson said the moisture would bring along second growth on grasslands and feed grain fields. Farmers in the drought-stricken south likely would avoid buying fodder from outside until they see how the second growth develops, he said.

A.I.D. IN EFFECT

Saskatchewan farmers have not hesitated to apply for aid under the government program. Agriculture Minister L. C. Nelles said all government measures were in effect and being used by farmers fighting the effects of a prolonged drought.

Fishermen Reap $750,000 in Day

SEATTLE (AP)—American and Canadian fishermen reaped a $750,000 harvest of sockeye salmon in the Strait of Juan de Fuca and northern Puget Sound Monday. The $75,000 fish will bring $1,500,000 as a finished product.

The run indicates full rehabilitation of the Fraser sockeye runs now in approaching fulfillment.

37 from Airliner Fly Back to U.S.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Thirty-two passengers and five crew members of a hijacked Eastern Air Lines Electra returned from Cuba Tuesday and told how a lone Latin American seized control of the propeller-driven airliner.

The hijacker, still unidentified, was last seen by the passenger as he was led away from the airliner by Cuban soldiers.

Rhodesia Deploys Troops and Police

SALISBURY (Reuters)—

Police tightened a security net throughout Southern Rhodesia Tuesday as tension deepened here on the eve of a referendum to decide the constitutional future of this self-governing British colony.

Heavily-armed white troops and police, accompanied by armored cars, took up strategic positions in Negro townships with orders to put down any disturbances.

If approved, the new constitution will grant Negroes at least 15 seats in the all-white legislature. But this measure is considered by Negro nationalist leaders to be only a small concession to their demands for full representation under the slogan "one man-one vote."

During the weekend, Negro nationalists held their own unofficial referendum on the constitution.

Preliminary returns Tuesday showed that more than 152,000 persons voted against the constitution while 235 supported it.

Job Claims Third Life

SEATTLE (AP)—An iron worker on a Century 21 project was sent tumbling to his death Tuesday from an 80-foot steel tower when a crane boom snapped while lifting a heavy girder and a piece of steel cable hit him. The death of Fred Hyde, 29, was the third on the auditorium job.

New Dag Bid Could Stymie Reds

By MAX BARBERIAN

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Dag Hammarskjöld's role in the Tunisian crisis could turn out to be a powerful answer to the Soviet campaign to replace the United Nations secretary-general with a three-man directorate. (See Page 3.)

If his personal diplomacy succeeds in restoring peace, both he and the office of secretary-general will get a big boost in prestige. In any event his activities are bound to have an impact on this fall's General Assembly debate on the proposed structural changes.

Developments during the last week have demonstrated that the secretary-general is a potent peace-making arm of the United Nations which can supplement the work of the Security Council and the Assembly.

Last Saturday when the Soviet appeared headed toward a deadlock on two controversial resolutions, Hammarskjöld entered boldly into the picture with a compromise proposal for an interim ceasefire while debate continued. His proposal won immediate support—including that of the Soviet Union.

Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba invited the secretary-general Sunday to fly to Tunis to help restore peace. Hammarskjöld accepted without hesitation.
